BIENNIAL REPORT

ADJUTANT GENERAL,

—OF—

WEST VIRGINIA,

1899-1900.

CHARLESTON, W. VA.:
THE TRIBUNE COMPANY, STATE PRINTER.

REPORT.

Adjutant General's Office,
Charleston, W. Va., October 30, 1900.

To His Excellency, George W. Atkinson,
Governor and Commander-in-Chief, of the State of West Virginia.

Sir:—

I have the honor most respectfully to submit my second Biennial Report of this department for the years 1899 and 1900.

Notwithstanding the deranging effects of the Spanish war upon our National Guard, the organization was never better than at this day; the physique and morale of the men is excellent; the officers, intelligent and ambitious, the inefficient officers and men have been largely weeded out, and the Guard, if kept on the lines now laid out, will soon be equal to any in the United States. This is the intention and aim of this office.

THE ORGANIZATION IS AS FOLLOWS:

One Brigade, of two Regiments, a Medical Department, and a Signal Corps, with the Brigade Headquarters at Charleston, this arrangement is the best, as it keeps the Brigade in close connection with the Adjutant General's office.

Holding the opinion that a National Guard should always be considered from the standpoint of use by the Nation or State, it is and has been my endeavor to do everything possible to prepare and equip ours for that end.

The professional soldiers of the Republic, the Regular Army, are organized, equipped and drilled in accord with the highest standard of military science, and being our exemplars we are striving along the same lines to emulate them so that when our troops are called upon to serve with them there need be no changes in instruction or equipment. Our organization is now the same as that of the Regular Army. It has been the effort of this office to have such a body of officers and men as shall physically and mentally be equal to those of the Regulars and we are working to accomplish this end. The National Guard should be the first reserve line of the Nation, prepared to support the Regular Army when needed. It is wise that the law provides that the President may call upon the Governor for regiments as organized and equipped for any service and this being understood, Guardsmen are prepared to respond to the call.

In accordance with the above views, the physical examination has been made more strict and the qualifications of officers more carefully considered, and in providing for the troops, the necessities of active service have always been borne in mind, and personal equipment for the enlisted men, such as rubber ponchos, woolen blankets, shelter tents, overcoats, uniforms, meat cans, tin cups, knives, forks and spoons have been bought as far as means have allowed. Good progress has been made in replacing the leather belts and McKeever cartridge boxes by the web cartridge belt which is much to be preferred for our use. To the service uniform issued to every man, should be added army shoes when the troops are called out. Since the Spanish War, new uniforms for fifteen companies have been purchased and paid for out of the appropriation. Field desks have been provided for the different headquarters and companies. Full tentage for Brigade Headquarters, both Regiments and Signal Corps have been secured, and a part of the needful equipment of the Medical Department; the articles we still lack will be obtained as soon as possible.

For the past three or four years the Adjutant General's office has been gradually growing until now it ranks among the most important in the State, and its work is prompt and efficient; this was shown by what was accomplished during the Spanish-American War and is in evidence every day at the present time as can be seen by any one visiting the office and taking note of the business going on. In administrative matters the work has been above criticism. The blank forms and the customs have been made to conform to those of the Regular Army. Public property is carefully looked after and guarded. Repairs are kept up. There has been prompt despatch of all papers and supplies. A large amount of stores received from the United States had, in past years, been improperly issued, or lost and not accounted for; this matter was brought before Boards of Survey and Inspection and through their reports being approved by the Secretary of War, the State is thereby relieved from a heavy load of responsibility.

During this Administration the Adjutant General's office and the Guard have been obliged to pay for all their stationery, printing, &c., out of the appropriation, which bills were previously paid out of the general printing fund; this has absorbed much money, although strict economy has been practiced. It is to be borne in mind though the annual appropriation is $25,000, that the Military Law provides for and enjoins the expenditure of about $16,000, for the fixed charges that must be paid each year before money for encampments can be used. As the expense on an encampment of the Brigade for ten days as prescribed by law will not be less than $20,000, including the pay of the men, the problem ever present with this office may readily be seen. Shelter tents were secured which enabled the different battalions to be out on practice marches from convenient points. There is no better way to make soldiers, than to march, camp and feed them as they are marched, camped and fed in a campaign. This year we were able by strict economy, to put each regiment into camp for a week. These camps were successful and very useful. The men were paid off while encamped, something probably never done before in the history of the Guard. With the full supply of new Wall and A. tents we now have, the next encampments will prove more comfortable.

Owing to lack of means, the number of companies in each regiment had been reduced to nine, though the three battalion organizations had been carefully preserved. As soon as the prospect for further supplies of needed articles became good, twelve companies were authorized in each regiment, though the companies were still restricted to the minimum number of men. It is intended now to raise the number in the companies as fast as a thorough equipment can be supplied. It is greatly to the advantage of our Guard that so many of the excellent officers and men who served in the 1st and 2nd regiments during the Spanish-American War, are now members of the Guard: their influence and practical example are of the greatest value. Experience has taught them much and their knowledge is used to benefit the whole Guard.

The Brigade Commander and his efficient Staff are entitled to credit for the onerous labors well performed; Lieutenant Colonel C. B. Kefauver and Major C. C. Lewis, Jr., of this Staff, both excellent officers, have devoted themselves to their duties without reserve. In this office, the Adjutant General has been fortunate in having had the assistance of most capable and accomplished officers; Colonel D. T. E. Casteel, Lieutenant-Colonel C. N. Simms and Colonel A. S. Hutson, (the latter an officer of the highest qualifications), and Captain W. H. Peyton, of the Signal Corps, who have been tireless in performing the duties assigned to them and have done much to render the work of the office so successful.

The rolls of the Spanish-American War Volunteers are published herewith. These rolls were carefully bound in a substantial manner after they were received at this office. The rolls published contain the most important statements regarding each officer and enlisted man and will show the records of the patriotic men who volunteered when the Nation needed them. West Virginians make admirable soldiers in any branch of the service, good artillery men, fine infantry, and excellent cavalry; as mounted men they could hardly be excelled. Although as organizations our Volunteers were unable to get into battle, yet since their muster out and return home, very many of the officers and men have joined the Regular Army or the U. S. Volunteers and have proved their valor and endurance in many hard campaigns and well fought actions. The occasion arising, the young men of West Virginia will prove as good soldiers as their fathers were before them, and no higher praise can be given them than to say this.

The enormous work of preparing for publication the old rolls of the soldiers of the Great War, has gone on steadily until after three years of unflagging work the manuscript will be presented to the next Legislature, prepared for the printing. Ohio with much greater facilities than ourselves and with better preserved rolls and papers, was twenty-eight years publishing twelve volumes. Our rolls covering upwards of 40,000 names, will fill two volumes of about 8000 pages each, and they have been prepared within three years. The work has been most exhausting but it is hoped it will be creditable to the State, and as complete as it is possible to make it. The card record of each man will be kept in a fire proof vault. These cards are really a minute index to an enormous mass of rolls, letters and other papers that are frequently referred to. It is a matter of almost daily occurrence that records of soldiers of the Civil War are called for from this office; the searching for and furnishing of these records involves a great deal of careful work, very frequently an entire day is consumed in looking up and making the record of one man.

In closing this report, permit me to say, that I feel sincerely all the confidence, kindness and support extended to me by your Excellency during my term of office.

Respectfully submitted.

JOHN W. M. APPLETON,

Adjutant General.

APPENDIX B.

REPORT OF BRIGADE COMMANDER. FOR 1899-1900.

October 1, 1900.

The Commander-in-Chief, West Virginia National Guard, Charleston, West Virginia.

(Through the Adjutant General's Office.)

Sir:—

Complying with your instructions I have the honor to transmit herewith, my report, relating to the conditions and affairs of the Brigade for the years 1899 and 1900. I am gratified to be justified in stating that the condition of the command has steadily improved during the past two years, and has now attained a very satisfactory degree of efficiency, and could be relied upon for duty in the service of the State.

The Command as now organized consists of:

The Brigade Staff, the Medical Department, two Regiments of Infantry and the Signal Corps. The total strength of the two regiments consists of:

73 Officers and 851 enlisted men.

There is but one vacancy on the Brigade Staff, the officers of which are capable in their respective departments. The Medical Department consists of:

8 Officers and 28 enlisted men. This Department is well organized, and gives very satisfactory results.

The 1st Regiment of Infantry is commanded by Col. Clarence L. Smith, of Fairmont. The 2nd Regiment of Infantry is commanded by Col. Charles E. Morrison of Parkersburg. Both of these Officers are accomplished and capable Military men, and have had experience, both in the U. S. Vol. service, and long service in the W. V. N. G. It is to them that the major part of the credit is due for the large degree of efficiency that both of these regiments have now attained.

There are at present 9 companies in each regiment and these are divided into three battalions in each regiment, with competent battalion commanders. A roster of the companies composing each regiment, herewith follows:

The Staff and Line Officers of the two Regiments are generally well qualified to fill their respective positions, and give their best efforts to the service, well sustaining their superior officers. Like tribute is due the men, who as a rule are faithful to their duties, and devoted to the service. The enlisted men of the Brigade are recruited from among the representative youth of the State, and represent nearly all occupations. It is to this representative character of the citizenship of the State, from which the personnel of the Guard is made up, that it derives its chief strength, and constitutes a body peculiarly fitted and disposed for the duties that may be required of it in the service of the State. It stands alike for the protection of the poor as well as of the rich, and for the maintenance of the law at the behest of properly constituted authority.

Of the companies composing the two regiments noted above, all of them are well officered, well organized and fairly equipped for service, excepting Co. "H," at Piedmont in the 1st Regiment, and Co. "A," at Bluefield in the 2nd Regiment. Owing to various causes these two companies have deteriorated, and steps are now being taken with the object of either promptly bringing them up to the proper standard of efficiency or mustering them out of the Service, so that new and effective companies may be organized in their stead.

The Signal Corps Commanded by Captain W. H. Peyton, an efficient Officer, has been making progress. The duties of this Corps are in their nature technical, and a satisfactory degree of efficiency can only be reached after long study and training. The Corps is being constantly instructed and drilled and its future is promising.

By reference to my last biennial report it will be observed that the Brigade was then in a state of disorganization due to the transfer of the major part of the officers and men to the Service of the U. S. in the Spanish-American War, and at the time of writing said report its organization and up-building had just fairly begun. Since that period the greater part of the officers who served in the Volunteer Regiments, have been restored to duty in the Guard, and many of the enlisted men have re-enlisted. This has added very much to the strength and efficiency of the Brigade, the service seen by these officers and enlisted men making them valuable acquisitions to the Guard, and influential in raising the standard of the entire command. There have also been during that period many changes in the personnel of both officers and men, and in the companies composing the Regiments. These are usual and necessarily incidental to a National Guard service, and constitute one of the inherent drawbacks to a perfect system of state soldiery. These changes have, however, been more numerous that would ordinarily occur, for the reason that it has been the policy from these Headquarters to dispose of incompetent officers and unsatisfactory companies. A number of the old companies have been mustered out and new ones established, as will appear in detail in the Adjutant General's report.

Among the important changes in the personnel of the officers may be noted the retirement of the two former Regimental Commanders. Col. Macker Babb, the late Commanding Officer of the 1st Infantry resigned to accept a commission in the Marine Corps of the U. S., and was at once succeeded in command by Col. Clarence L. Smith former Commanding Officer of the Regiment, who was restored to duty as such by order of the Commander-in-Chief, upon the recommendation of the Brigade Commander, as per General Orders dated December 30, 1899, issued from the Adjutant General's Office. Col. Joseph A. Parker, late Commander of the 2nd Infantry was placed upon the supernumerary list at his own request, and Major Charles E. Morrison, after examination held according to law, was commissioned Colonel of the Regiment to date Aug. 11, 1900. Lieut. Col. Charles N. Simms, 2nd Infantry who was eligible for this promotion waived his right, in favor of Major Morrison.

Proper and adequate equipment for the Brigade is obviously one of the most important and pressing necessities involved in the administration of its affairs. The limited appropriation made by the Legislature for the benefit of the Guard renders it impossible to fully equip the command with all of the various stores, equipment and accoutrements that go to make up a well organized Military body. This subject pertains more particularly to the Adjutant General's Report, than to this report, and I would conclude my remarks upon the same with the simple statement that the funds available for this purpose have been expended as judiciously as possible, and while the present equipment of the Brigade is not all that it should be by any means, it is nevertheless sufficiently thorough to make the command available for active service, though such service could be better rendered, were the equipment more adequate.

It has been the constant aim of the Brigade Commander and his subordinate officers to raise the standard of discipline throughout the Brigade, and it is felt that this has been accomplished to a measurable degree. The discipline while not yet all that could be desired is reasonably satisfactory, and further improvement is hoped for and will be required. In passing, it may be in place to remark that it is impossible in the nature of the conditions prevailing in National Guard Service to bring it up to the same standard that obtains in the Regular Army. All that can be expected is to approximate this as nearly as possible. It is believed that the Brigade in this State comes as near reaching the standard of the Regular Establishment, as that of any of the other States, with a very few exceptions. Efforts from these Headquarters will be directed with undiminished energy to attain still greater excellence in this respect.

As bearing upon the questions of discipline, efficiency, etc., as discussed above, and as showing the policy of these Headquarters, a copy of the subject matter of General Orders No. 1, issued from these Headquarters dated Jan. 23, 1900, is respectfully submitted, herewith;

"By direction of the Commander-in-Chief the number of companies in each regiment will be limited to Nine, until otherwise ordered.

In this reduction of the number of companies in each regiment it is the determination to effect an improvement in the service, establishing both regiments on a thorough military basis respecting,

Proper and adequate equipment and,

Military efficiency,

for any active duty that may be required in the service of the State, and for any field exercises that may be ordered during the coming summer.

The limited appropriation available for the support of the Guard is not sufficient to maintain more than the above number of companies in each regiment up to that standard of military efficiency that is desired and will be required.

The retention of all companies in the service will be governed by the degree of efficiency and improvement shown in each case.

All officers will be held to a rigid accountability for the duties devolving upon them in their respective commands.

Neither officers nor enlisted men will be retained in the service whose presence may be a detriment to it."

INSPECTIONS.

Special attention has been given to the subject of Inspection. Careful and thorough inspections of the organizations composing the command have been made during the past two years, at the home stations of the various organizations, as well as during the summer exercises of the Guard. Instruction has been combined with inspection, thus accomplishing the two-fold object of correcting all errors and faults discovered at the time, and ascertaining the exact condition of the Brigade with respect to its strength, discipline, equipment, administrative work, etc.

This important branch of the service has been under the immediate supervision of Major C. C. Lewis, Jr., Brigade Inspector General, assisted by Lieut. Col. Charles N. Simms, 2nd Infantry, and Major W. W. Scott, 1st Infantry, who were detailed as additional Inspectors General. The work of all of these officers was particularly thorough, efficient and painstaking, meriting special notice and commendation. The result of the same has come under the personal observation of the Brigade Commander and he has noted that the present improvement now obtaining in the Guard, has been in no small measure due to this work. These inspections are treated of in a comprehensive and intelligent manner in the report of the Brigade Inspector General, which is hereby made a part of this report, and to which special attention is invited. The recommendations made are pertinent and well founded and are concurred in by the Brigade Commander.

Major C. C. Lewis, Jr., the Brigade Inspector General is an unusually well qualified officer in this department of the service, and great value is attached to his work.

Lieut. Col. Charles N. Simms, who was detailed to do a great part of this work, was extremely painstaking and thorough, and won the grateful appreciation of all of the officers with whom he came in contact, for his assistance and personal interest manifested in the welfare of the commands he visited.

The inspections made by Major W. W. Scott were also accomplished in a very capable manner, and his reports of the same are models of brevity and good taste, while sufficiently thorough and comprehensive.

A more extended idea of the scope and character of the work contemplated by these inspections than stated above, will be conveyed by the perusal of General Orders No. 22 issued from these Headquarters dated Sept. 25, 1899, which will be found in the Adjutant General's report, and to which attention is invited.

FIELD EXERCISES. 1899-1900.

The Field Exercises of the Brigade during the past two years were limited to Practice Marches and Encampments, by battalion, for the year 1899, and to Regimental Encampments for the present year. These exercises were had and conducted in obedience to orders from the Commander-in-Chief transmitted through the A. G. O., the character of the exercises named having been ordered in compliance with request and recommendations from these Headquarters. A Brigade Encampment was rendered impossible by reason of insufficient appropriation made by the Legislature to defray the expenses of the same, while providing for the fixed charges and maintenance of the Guard, which had to be met first before Field Exercises could be had and paid for. It has been the policy of the Brigade Commander in his actions, and recommendations, to look first to the thorough organization of the Brigade and an adequate equipment with the object of having the Command prepared as best as possible for any service that might be required of it upon the call of the Commander-in-Chief. Money was spent for essentials in this respect rather than to expend it in the Field Exercises, which left but a very limited sum out of the appropriation for 1899, for this latter purpose. This sum was but sufficient to defray the expenses of Practice Marches by battalions for the year 1899. These, however, met the needs of the Brigade during the past year since neither Regiment was completely organized and it was practicable to divide the companies composing the two Regiments into two battalions for each regiment and give them this field experience and training. Practice Marches were also in vogue in other States, it being generally considered that exercises of this kind permitting the Guard opportunity to go on a regular march as would be required in service, would provide a profitable experience as a change from the usual system of exercises confined to Regimental or Brigade Camps. This theory was borne out by the results. With the marches the experience was new to both officers and men, and extended the range of their information and training. At the same time it is not considered advisable that these Practice Marches should in any way take the place of the regular encampments except as an occasional change. The order providing for these marches was issued from these Headquarters under date of June 29, 1899. Among other things it provided that each battalion should march approximately 3 days going, remain in camp 4 days and take approximately 3 days in returning. It provided for exercises to be had in advance and rear guard, and while in rendezvous, in out-post duty. It required that the march be made in heavy marching order carrying, in addition, certain equipment prescribed in general orders No. 9, 1899, issued from these Headquarters, together with wearing apparel. It also brought into active play, the services of the Battalion Staff Officers throwing upon them the responsibility as the heads of their respective departments, of active field duty. It gave them more enlarged experience than they would have received by Regimental or Brigade Encampments. An Inspector was also detailed to accompany each battalion and render full and complete reports of his inspection. These reports will be embodied in abbreviated form in the report of the Brigade Inspector General. A Surgeon also accompanied each battalion. The companies composing the battalion were transported by rail (except the companies whose home station was at the point of rendezvous) to the point of rendezvous from which the march was taken up. It was required that the cost of the necessary subsistence should be kept as near as possible to the U. S. A. allowance of 18c. a day per man and not to exceed 25c. per day. Pursuant to this order 4 battalions, 2 from each regiment proceeded on Practice March upon dates in the months of July and August, in the order named:

1st Battalion 2nd Infantry commanded by Major Charles E. Morrison, with the following named companies, Co. "G" and Co. "I," both of Huntington, and Co. "E" and Co. "L," both of Parkersburg. The 1st Bat. 1st Infy., commanded by Major W. W. Scott, with the following companies, Co. "F," Burton, Co. "C," Wellsburg, Co. "G," Fairmont and Co. "M," of Terra Alta. 2nd Bat. 2nd Infy., commanded by Major D. L. Irwin, with the following companies, Co. "A," Bluefield, Co. "F," Milton and Co. "M," of Charleston. 3rd Bat. 1st Infy., commanded by Lieut. Col. R. B. Ash, with the following companies, Co. "E," of Martinsburg, Co. "H," of Piedmont and Co. "L," of Morgantown.

The battalion commanded by Major Morrison marched from Parkersburg to Elizabeth and return. The distance of this march was about 26 miles.

The battalion commanded by Major Scott marched from Fairmont to Terra Alta and return a distance of 44 miles through a mountainous country. This was the most fatiguing and severe march made by any of the battalions, notwithstanding which, it was successfully made without imposing undue and too severe hardships on the men.

The battalion commanded by Major Irwin marched from Charleston upon the Kanawha river to a point on Hughes' creek, a distance of about 26 miles and made the same march returning.

The battalion commanded by Lieutenant, Col. Ash marched from Keyser to Romney a distance of 26 miles.

All of the battalions camped for a period of about 4 days at the point to which they respectively marched.

The country traversed by the battalions admitted the movements of the Commands without great difficulty, that of the 1st Bat. 1st Infy. being the roughest traveled. The routes were determined upon in advance by an Officer, in each case, who went over the ground and selected the most convenient and accessible route to a given point, near the home stations of the companies composing the respective battalions. Exercises in advance and rear guard made one of the principal features of the marches. In camp, rifle practice took up the greater part of the time, while such attention was given to drill, outpost duty, parade and other duties incident to camp life, as the balance of the time admitted. 1st Lieut. Charles W. Cole acted efficiently as Range Officer in all the camps except that of the 2nd Bat. 2nd Infy. Major Thomas E. Hodges, Inspector of Small Arms practice and an accomplished officer, visited all of the camps except that of the 2nd Bat. 2nd Infy., which he could not reach, because of his attendance at one of the other camps at the same time. He exercised general supervision over the range practice while he was at each camp. The firing was at ranges of 100, 200, 300, 500 yards, and at 600 yards also, in one or two instances. It was generally very successfully conducted and was highly profitable in increasing the usefulness of the men in this most important branch of a soldier's training. The health of the men was generally good and there were but very few cases of illness, and none of them serious. While these Practice Marches necessarily imposed considerable hardship upon officers and men alike, and carried with them much more real serious work than opportunity for recreation, they were nevertheless generally enjoyed by those participating in them, the hardships being borne in a soldierly manner. The battalion commanders made reports of the respective marches to these Headquarters, as required by orders.

The reports of Majors Scott and Morrison were very intelligently and carefully prepared, and in view of the former lack of experience of this kind, especially in the case of Major Scott, they constitute most excellent recitals of the events of the march. They are respectfully submitted to accompany this report and are made a part thereof. The reports of Lieut. Col. Ash and Major Irwin are also submitted in synopsis form. Attention is respectfully invited to these reports, and especially to those of Majors Scott and Morrison for a detailed and more particular account of these marches than is submitted above.

REGIMENTAL ENCAMPMENTS.

The encampments held by regiment during the month of August this year were desirable as a change from the Practice Marches of the preceding year, and were successful and highly profitable to the regiments. The camps were limited to 5 successive days under pay, as provided by law, the available fund for this purpose not being sufficient to permit the encampments to be extended beyond the period named. The 2nd Regiment was ordered into camp first and was mobilized at the camp grounds near Charleston on Aug. 6, 1900, and on the morning of Aug. 7th the camp routine and regulations began. The regiment was under the command of Col. Joseph A. Parker, its Commanding Officer, who was on Aug. 11, upon his own request placed upon the supernumerary list, and superseded in command by Major Charles E. Morrison, who remained in command during the balance of the time of the encampment. The 1st Regiment was encamped at Keyser. The encampment beginning Aug. 21, 1900. The regiment was under command of Col. C. L. Smith, its commanding officer. The order authorizing these encampments allowed 10 mounts and 1 team to each regiment. It enjoined strict economy in the purchase of all supplies and directed that the cost of Commissary supplies should be kept as near the U. S. A. allowance of 18c. per day per man as possible, and not to exceed 25c. per day. Target practice was dispensed with owing to the shortness of the time of the encampment. Provision was made for the designation of an inspector for each camp. The Regimental Commanders were directed to issue all necessary orders and instructions, and to effect all arrangements connected with the encampment of their respective regiments. A report of the encampment was required to be made to these Headquarters. Major C. C. Lewis, Jr., Acting Brigade Adjutant General, (in the absence of the Brigade Adjutant General), personally represented the Brigade Commander at each camp under proper instructions, in the enforced absence of the Brigade Commander himself. Major Lewis also inspected each regiment in his capacity as Brigade Inspector General. Major Morrison who succeeded to the command of the 2nd Regiment, upon the retirement of Col. Parker, and Col. C. L. Smith, Commanding the 1st Regiment, carried out and concluded in a very efficient manner the encampments of their respective regiments. It is therefore not deemed necessary in this report to dwell at length upon these encampments. The conduct of the same and the incidents relating to them, and their results, will be found in the reports made by these officers to these Headquarters, which are herewith respectfully submitted and made a part of this report. Attention is also invited to the reports of the Brigade Inspector General in his inspection of the regiments.

The Signal Corps, (which under the law is a distinct organization coming directly under the command of the Brigade Commander,) was attached to the 2nd Regiment camp, for such instructions and exercises as pertained peculiarly to this organization.

In concluding these remarks upon the Field Exercises held by the Brigade during the past two years, while it is believed as stated above, that both the Practice Marches by Battalions held during the preceding year, and the Encampments, held by Regiment during this year, were as eminently satisfactory and productive of good to both officers and men, as far as could be expected under the circumstances, and for the limited time of the Regimental Encampments, it is the opinion of the Brigade Commander that sufficient appropriation should be made to permit of a Brigade Encampment next year, which would fittingly supplement the exercises held during the past two years. These exercises not only necessarily left out the Brigade Staff and the Brigade Commander from active and personal participation therein, but also failed to bring together the entire guard which is obviously desirable, both from the standpoint of personal intercourse, and the more extended movements and added interest, which can only be accomplished by Brigade Encampment. It is generally desired throughout the guard that an encampment of the entire guard by Brigade be had, and it is hoped that adequate appropriation will be made permitting this to be done. The appropriation, $25,000.00 per annum, is not sufficient for this purpose, while providing for the fixed charges and expenses incident to the maintenance of the guard, as required by law, and its proper equipment.

In this connection it is pertinent to say that proper Field Exercises productive of results are essential to the life of the National Guard, and especially as it is organized and provided for in our State, where no compensation is appropriated for the benefit of the enlisted men, (excepting when ordered out for duty), and but a mere nominal compensation to a limited number of officers. The requirements of the service take up the time of both officers and men, and are to some degree onerous and exacting, and only their affection for the service and their sense of duty as members of the Military Establishment of the State, furnish the consideration for the work and sacrifices that are imposed upon them. The summer exercises of the Guard, which though entailing labor and some personal discomforts present some corresponding attractions, which constitute the main inducement to the faithful service, which the State's Solldiery gives to it. It is therefore that the importance of making adequate provision for these summer exercises is emphasized, as being essential to the welfare of the Guard. It has been the policy of the Brigade Commander acting in conjunction with the Adjutant General, and in accordance with the wishes of the Commander-in-Chief, to place the exercises the past two years upon a practical basis, with the object of more perfectly training and equipping the State Troops for any serious duty that the State may require of them, and it is believed that the object has been accomplished. The same policy will be pursued in the future, and with proper encouragement, it is safe to say that this command will always be maintained on an efficient basis, ready and prepared for any active service that may be required of it.

CONCLUDING REMARKS AND RECOMMENDATIONS.

It will be noted from the above that the Regimental organization consists of but 9 companies, and the most of these are on the minimum basis. A letter was addressed recently from these Headquarters recommending that the Commander-in-Chief authorize an increase in the number of the companies to 12 in each Regiment, as soon as it might be possible to furnish the additional equipment that would be required. In view of the rapid and extensive developments now in progress in the State, and of the increasing population, it would seem wise that the military forces of the State should be correspondingly increased to meet the conditions not only of the present, but of the immediate future prospective growth of the State. Indeed the command as at present organized may be regarded as not sufficiently large and numerous to be adequate in point of numbers for emergencies of serious dimensions that might arise. Moreover the rough and mountainous character of our State, with the present facilities for travel are such as not to permit of the rapid and prompt mobilization of companies at various given points throughout the State, with the forces now available.

The limited number of companies composing the two regiments are not and cannot be so located to accomplish this important end as fully as desirable. It is therefore believed that the recommendation, above alluded to, increasing the number of companies in each regiment to 12 should be complied with as speedily as circumstances may permit.

The rifles now in use in the Brigade are the old Springfields, Cal. 45, and most of them of the model of 1884. Many of them are scarcely servicable, and this style of rifle is practically obsolete. Its construction is not adapted to the late Manual of Arms. It is recommended that an effort be made to have the Krag-Jorgensen rifle substituted for these Springfield rifles, as expeditiously as it may be possible to do so.

The following miscellaneous recommendations, which it is believed will be calculated to promote the efficiency of the Brigade are also respectfully submitted:

The regulations that have been issued by order of the Commander-in-Chief since the new Military Code went into effect, and those prior to that time, which are germane, and as well, the orders issued from these Headquarters that are in the nature of regulations, should be codified. The intent of this would be to put before the Guard a compact and convenient, properly arranged form of all of the various regulations and orders in addition to the provisions of the Military Code, which govern the conduct and discipline of the Guard. These are now scattered in a miscellaneous way throughout the reports and files for a number of years. If this codification is ordered there could be added to the regulations already promulgated now ones interpreting debatable provisions in the Military Code, and such others as might be advisable, giving to the Guard a systematic compilation of the laws governing it.

Special attention is invited to the recommendation in the report of Practice March made by Major Charles E. Morrison, touching upon the question of the present system of purchasing Medical supplies. His recommendation that Medical Chests be purchased is endorsed. There should be at least two of these.

12 Conicle tents with stoves should be purchased for use, for winter service. These can be gotten at $45.00 each, with stove included, and would be sufficient to quarter one battalion.

The present supply of overcoats is entirely inadequate in the event of the need of the Guard for active services during the winter months, and should be increased so that there may be at least enough for one battalion in each regiment. The present supply of blankets should also be materially increased for service in any season.

It is desirable for the good of the service that when officers resign, and their resignations are duly approved, such measures should be adopted as to enable prompt action to be taken relieving the officer of property accountability. Heretofore in several cases, owing to the delay in adjusting property accountability of officers, and the consequent postponement of the acceptance of their resignations, such officers have nominally remained in command for a period extending through many months, to the detriment and embarrassment of the service.

I deem it proper to note in concluding, the pleasant intercourse that has obtained between these Headquarters and the Adjutant General's Office, and the harmonious relations that have existed between the two offices in their aims and actions looking to the promotion of the interests of the service; and to acknowledge the courtesies that have been extended to these Headquarters.

APPENDIX A.

Charleston, W. Va., October 1, 1900.
Office of the Brigade Inspector General.

The Brigade Adjutant General,
West Virginia National Guard.

Sir:—

I have the honor to submit the following report of inspections made for the years 1899 and 1900. Company inspections of the entire 1st Regiment and a portion of the 2nd Regiment were made by Lieut. Col. Charles N. Simms, 2nd Infy. and Major W. W. Scott, 1st Infy., who were detailed as additional Inspectors, and a summary of whose reports are submitted, herewith. These inspections were made in compliance with instructions given in General Orders No. 22 B. H. 1899, which combined instruction with the duties of inspection, and the wisdom of which was apparent at the annual encampments held this summer, when a very great improvement was noted in all branches of the service.

General Orders No. 14 B. H. 1899, which provided for the summer exercises of the Guard for that year, and in compliance with which Practice Marches by Battalions were held; also provided that the Regimental Commanders (Colonels Macker Ebb and J. A. Parker) should accompany the Battalions of their respective Regiments, as Inspectors, and summaries of their reports are also submitted, herewith.

FIRST REGIMENT.

REGIMENTAL ENCAMPMENTS.

(R) First Regiment, (S) Second Regiment.

CONCLUSIONS AND RECOMMENDATIONS.

Examinations.—As a result of the thorough examinations required of officers, the personnel of the Guard, I believe, was never better. Examinations for warrants has been generally practiced, but should be required.

Instruction.—Officers and non-commissioned officers schools have been regularly held by the majority of the Company Commanders, and were held each day during the Regimental Encampments this summer.

The great number of both officers and enlisted men who served with the First and Second West Virginia Volunteer Infantry during the recent war with the Kingdom of Spain, have furnished practical instruction in field exercises and administrative work, and have added materially to the discipline and efficiency of the Guard.

It is earnestly recommended that such text-books as "The National Guard In Service," "Customs of the Service"—Powell, "Minor Tactics"—Smylie, "Notes on Military Hygiene"—Woodhull, and "Prompt Aid to the Injured"—Doty, be placed within the reach of every enlisted man in the National Guard; that lectures on "First Aid" be delivered by a Medical Officer during the winter months at the Armories; that a more thorough instruction in guard duty be had, and that at least two non-commissioned officers in each Company be detailed to make a special study of field sketching, for which proper text-books should be provided. This important branch of the service seems to have been neglected.

I further recommend that instruction be given in "Butts' Manual," which, would not only vary the monotony of winter drills, but furnish needed and proper physical exercise.

Regulations.—There is probably no matter of greater importance and needing more prompt attention, than the codifying of regulations published in orders, with the addition of such as present conditions would seem to suggest for the guidance and government of the Guard. U. S. Army Regulations in many instances conflict with our Military Code and cannot be used exclusively, in consequence of which much confusion now exists. I recommend that this matter be taken up by proper authorities without delay.

Encampments.—The Practice Marches held by Battalion during the summer of 1899 were beneficial, in that, they furnished an opportunity for the Staff Officers of the smaller units to gain practical knowledge and experience in the field, that a Regimental or Brigade Encampment would not have given them.

The Regimental Encampments held this summer furnished a like opportunity for the Regimental Staff Officers.

It is therefore recommended that provision be made for an encampment to be held by Brigade during the summer of 1901, to afford Brigade Staff Officers the same opportunity, for the further purpose of bringing about more intimate acquaintance of the superior officers with the smaller commands and in order that a more extended practice in field exercises may be had.

The practice of permitting numerous unauthorized sutler's tents about the camps is a constant menace to the discipline and health of the commands; I therefore recommend that one sutler's tent be authorized within the guard lines at each encampment, subject to daily inspection by a Medical Officer. This privilege could be made a source of revenue to the subsistence department.

Because of the excessive heat which usually prevails throughout the State during the month of August, and which both endangers the health of the command and impairs its usefulness in the field, the Guard being largely composed of men unaccustomed to violent exercise in the sun; it is recommended that Section 50 of the Military Code be so amended as to provide for camp duty between the first of September and the first of October of each year, instead of during the month of August, as now provided.

Permanent Camp Ground.—I recommend the procurement by the State of a permanent camp ground, to be located at some central point within the State of easy access by water and rail. Its advantages are so numerous as to render mention in detail unnecessary; one item alone, a permanent rifle range, being sufficient to justify any necessary expenditure.

Armories.—Armories in use at Company Stations are rented by the State, and are, as a rule, poorly lighted, badly arranged, not properly located and entirely too small. A Drill room less than 100x50 feet is of little real value as such; in addition to which "property" rooms should be provided.

I recommend an increase in the allowance for Armory rent sufficient to enable the Commands to procure the building in Armories from plans provided by the Engineer Officer.

Arms.—Infantry now armed with Springfield rifle, Cal. 45, principally model 1884. An exchange for rifles of the kind in use in the U. S. Regular Army is greatly to be desired. A prominent National Guard Officer of a sister state has tersely said: "that to arm a soldier with the old Springfield for use against a modern magazine rifle is equivalent to handing him a club with which to combat a man with a shotgun." I recommend that such action be taken as may be required to cause Congress to pass an act authorizing an exchange as stated above.

Accoutrements.—A few Companies are equipped with old bayonet scabbards, loop attachment. These should be replaced by scabbard with hook attachment, unless the long bayonet can be dispensed with; the experience of the U. S. Regular Army having long since proven it an impediment, rather than a useful addition to their equipment in the field. The knife bayonet of the magazine gun, which is less bulky, and can also be used both as a knife and an entrenching tool, is much to be preferred.

But two Companies are equipped with Cartridge Belts, the remainder with waist belts and McKeever cartridge boxes. I recommend that the waist belts and cartridge boxes be promptly replaced by Cartridge Belts.

Clothing.—I recommend the issue of a service or working Uniform of Khaki to be used in the field, both to save the so-called Undress Uniform, which is more expensive, and because it is much cooler for summer wear and can be washed—A Khaki Uniform costs from $2.75 to $3.00 and its issue would be in the interest of economy.

I also recommend the issue of a gray flannel shirt and Regulation shoes. The shoes could probably be manufactured at our profitable State institution at Moundsville.

I then recommend that the Khaki Uniform, campaign hat, gray flannel shirt, leggings and regulation shoes, weather permitting, be the dress prescribed for all duties at annual encampments, except Guard Mount, Parade, Review and Inspection.

The Quartermaster's Department has on hand about 300 Infantry Overcoats. It is recommended that a full supply be purchased, and an issue made to each enlisted man.

Equipment.—The supply of regulation woolen blankets on hand at the Quartermaster's Depot is not adequate to the requirements of the Brigade, and in consequence, much inconvenience was experienced on Practice Marches in 1899 and at Regimental Encampments this summer. I recommend that a full supply be purchased and an issue made to each enlisted man.

Company inspection reports indicate that haversack straps in use by some of the Commands are of different colors, and in a few instances rotten from old age. I recommend that they be at once replaced by straps of a uniform color, and made of good leather.

I recommend the purchase of incinerators of a portable pattern for use in field service, for the purpose of removing excrement and garbage. Practical tests of an incinerator manufactured by the International Garbage and Crematory Co., of Buffalo, N. Y., were made by the New York National Guard in the summer of 1899 with satisfactory results. Their use minimizes the danger of disease from camp sinks, and at the same time saves the expense of their digging. The first cost of the incinerator would probably be greater than the old dug sink, but the investment would be a lasting one; whereas, the sink is but temporary and the money expended for it is beyond recovery.

Tentage.—The shelter tents used by enlisted men on Practice Marches in 1899 and at Regimental Encampments this summer, are not serviceable in wet weather. It is therefore recommended that a full supply of wall tents for officers and Hospital use, and common "A" tents for use of enlisted men, be procured. A partial supply of both wall tents and common "A" tents have been issued. It is also recommended that a supply of Conical tents, with stoves, sufficient to equip at least a Battalion, be purchased and kept at the Quartermaster's Depot, for use in case of winter service.

Medical Supplies.—The Medical branch of the service is at present poorly equipped; I recommend the purchase and issue to the Medical Department of at least two Medical Chests, and a sufficient supply of Orderly Pouches and First Aid Packages of the kind in use by the U. S. Regular Army.

Signal Corps.—I recommend that this Corps be supplied with cartridge belt and revolver, U. S. Army pattern, and that additional Signal Flags, Flash Lanterns and Heliographs be added to their equipment.

Care of Property.—The question of proper care of property in Company Armories has always been a difficult one in the Guard, and will continue to be until an allowance is made each Company for that purpose. I therefore recommend that a sufficient allowance be made the Quartermaster Sergeant of each Command to insure the proper care of all property issued his Command.

I recommend that property in Armories throughout the State be kept well insured; past experience is a sufficient argument on this point.

Efficiency and Discipline.—Non-commissioned officers, as a rule, fail to appreciate the responsibility imposed by their preferment, and to render proper assistance to their superiors. Commanding Officers are, of course, responsible and should correct this weakness. Company Commanders in many cases do not require of their Lieutenants sufficient assistance in paper work.

Decided improvement in military courtesy was noticeable at the encampments this summer, and the discipline of the troops at all times was creditable. It was a pleasure to witness the military bearing and deportment of the men off duty. In the judgment of the Inspector General the encampments were the best in the history of the Guard, taking into consideration its recent almost complete reorganization, and the fact that nearly 50 per cent. of the enlisted men were recruits.

For the first time in the history of the Guard the Regiments were paid in the field at the close of the encampment this summer. This practice should be continued.

It has not been customary to provide for the attendance of any of the Military forces of the State at important National and State exercises and ceremonies, such as the Presidential, and our Governor's inaugurations, and the unveiling of monuments in memory of our dead heroes. I would suggest that provision be made for the attendance upon such exercises, of at least a Battalion, same to be selected by the Brigade Commander, and to consist of those Companies showing greatest efficiency. This would engender a wholesome rivalry, and, in my opinion, greatly increase the Esprit De Corps of the Brigade.

I wish to express my appreciation of the careful and painstaking services of the Assistant Inspectors. I desire also, to thank you, and the officers of the Brigade, for courtesies extended, making thereby, what would have been an irksome task, a pleasant duty.

Very respectfully,

C. C. LEWIS, Jr.,

Major, Inspector General.

The Brigade Adjutant General,
Charleston, W. Va.

Sir:—

I have the honor to make the following report on the muster and inspection of Co. "C," 1st Infantry, made this date:

1. Strength, Present and Absent.

Total paper strength, 3 officers, 44 enlisted men. Present at Inspection Captain, Thos. E. Amick; 1st Lieutenant, John E. Fowler, and 34 enlisted, aggregate 36, or 76.7 per cent. Of the 11 absentees, 1 Sergeant, 1 Trumpeter, and 7 Privates were out of State, and 1 Private out of town, all with leave, and 2nd Lieutenant absent without leave.

2. Armament.

40 Springfield rifles, cal. 45, model 1884; issue June 1899. All in excellent condition except as regards the defects of loose screws, existing when received.

3. Equipment.

Same as last report. Very well cared for.

4. Clothing.

Same as last report. Clothing very well cared for.

5. Camp and Garrison Equipage. (a) tentage. (b) mess outfits.

(a) No change since last report.

(b) Same as last report.

Buzzacott oven and fittings were the cleanest I have found in the Regiment.

6. Efficiency, discipline and appearance.

The personnel of the enlisted men is much above the average; men are unusually well selected and intelligent, and company makes fine appearance. Discipline is good, and military courtesy exceptionally good.

7. Instruction, theoretical and practical.

Good. Would recommend attention to instructions in marches and hygiene before next field exercises.

8. Nature and amount of drills.

Have had 17 drills since last inspection, of one hour average duration each, with an average attendance of 26.

9. Armory.

No change since last report except that electric lights are now used, and a gas heating stove has been put in as recommended.

10. Company Books and Papers.

A decided improvement since last Inspection.

11. Marking of equipment.

Not fully completed yet.

12. Inspection.

Company did not get out of armory on account of storm. Ceremony of Inspection was very good. Manual and foot movements very good. The intervals and distances remarkably well kept.

CONCLUSIONS AND RECOMMENDATIONS.

General condition of Company satisfactory, except that the 2nd Lieutenant has not been giving proper attention to his duties. His resignation will be forwarded. The recommendations of last report are renewed.

Since last report, Company took part in Dewey Day celebration at Wheeling, February 22, at their own expense, and I am informed made highly creditable showing. Attention appears to be paid to keeping Company favorably before the public, and interest and good feeling exists towards them by the people of the town; this Company and Co. "E," seem to be impressed with the necessity of giving close attention to this point.

Since last Inspection Company has procured boxing gloves, Indian clubs, and quite a gymnasium outfit, which has increased interest and attendance.

Very respectfully,

CHAS. N. SIMMS,

Lt. Col. 2nd. Infy.,

Ad'l Inspector.

The Brigade Adjutant General.

Charleston, W. Va.

1. Strength, Present and Absent.

Total paper strength, 3 officers, 45 enlisted men. Present at Inspection, Captain, John P. Glass; 1st Lieutenant, Clifton E. Morris; 2nd Lieutenant, Wm. T. Crawford, and 36 enlisted men; aggregate 39, or 81.25 per cent. Of the 9 absentees, 1 Corporal and 1 Private were absent with leave on account of business, 1 Private with sick leave; 5 Privates absent from City or State, with leave, and 1 Private without leave.

2. Armament.

40 Springfield rifles, cal. 45, Model 1884, issue June, 1899. In very good condition except loose screws.

3. Equipment.

40 Each, waist belts and plates, bayonet scabbards (H. A.), McKeever cartridge boxes and gun slings, issued February 3, 1900—all new when issued except waist belts and gun slings. 43 each, Blanket bags complete, Haversacks and Canteens, and 86 Haversack straps, all U. S.; all new when issued April 5th, 1900, except Blanket bags "used good."

4. Clothing.

43 Each, Blouses, trousers, campaign hats, leggins and ponchos, all new, issued in February and April, 1900.

5. Camp and Garrison Equipage. (a) tentage. (b) mess outfits.

(a) 44 Shelter halves complete. Outfit of tools complete, except mattocks.

(b) One "Improved Buzzacott Oven" complete. 43 each meat cans, tin cups, knives, forks, and spoons—all U. S., new.

6. Efficiency, discipline and appearance.

This Company was mustered in to the service February, 1, 1900. Commanding Officer reports no previous military service. 1st Lieutenant served as 1st Lieutenant Co. "D," 2nd W. V. V. I., June 29th, 1898 to April 10th, 1899. 2nd Lieutenant enlisted in Company "B," 1st Infantry, W. V. N. G., April 18, 1898, served in Co. "M," 1st W. V. V. I., from April 27th, 1898 to February 4, 1899; was in Porto Rico Expedition as orderly to General Brooke. 1st Sergeant, served 3 enlistments in National Guard Pennsylvania, and 6 others of the enlisted men served in Spanish-American war. Company is well sized, and presents very good appearance, and promises to make an efficient company.

7. Instruction, theoretical and practical.

Good.

8. Nature and amount of Drills.

Since organization February 1, 1900 to March 31, 1900; 16 drills were held, averaging 2 hours each, including turning out as escort to Admiral Dewey on February 21, and participation in Parade on 22nd.

Average attendance 36.6 or 75.3 per cent of average strength of company during that period.

9. Armory.

3rd Story of brick building, one room 60x30 ft. for drill room, and one room about 12 ft. square for property room. Drill room is also used for Lodge purposes and is carpeted, and too narrow for drilling. Heated by natural gas. Not well lighted or ventilated. No lockers.

10. Company Books and Papers.

The mustering officer, Lieut. Geo. E. Gramm, gave them no instruction in paper work, and books had been incorrectly started. All the instruction was given that the limited time would admit.

11. Marking of equipment.

Marked at Quartermaster Depot before shipment.

12. Inspection.

Company drilled in armory. Weather not permitting outdoor exercises. Each of the three officers assuming command at different times. Movements very well executed considering the time Company has been organized and size of armory. Execution of the manual of arms was also very creditable. Ceremony of Inspection on the whole good. General appearance, very good.

CONCLUSIONS AND RECOMMENDATIONS.

This should make a very efficient Company. The men appear zealous and intelligent, and deserve credit for the progress already made.

Very respectfully,

CHAS. N. SIMMS,

Lt. Col. 2nd. Infy.,

Ad'l Inspector.

(C)

CO. L.

Morgantown, W. Va., April 16, 1900.

The Brigade Adjutant General,

Charleston, W. Va.

Sir:—

I have the honor to make the following report on the muster and inspection of Co. "L." 1st Infy., made this date.

1. Strength, Present and Absent.

Total paper strength, 3 officers, 37 enlisted men. Present at Inspection, 1st Lieutenant, Justin M. Kunkle; 2nd Lieutenant, Mathew M. Neeley, and 31 enlisted men; aggregate 33, or 82 $\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. Of the 7 absentees, the Captain and 5 enlisted were absent with leave, all "out of State," and one enlisted man with leave, sick. The late Regimental Commander failed to issue warrants for the non-commissioned officers, and they are still carried as "acting," Lieutenant Kunkle not desiring to assume the responsibility of designating them in the Captain's absence. 9 enlistment papers "in transit," 1 since June 2, 1899.

2. Armament.

40 Springfield rifles, cal. 45, model 1884, issue of June, 1899. Found 2 sear springs, 2 tumblers, 2 rear-sight base springs and 1 Gun stock (wood part), broken, the latter apparently from defect in wood. Rifles in excellent shape, with 6 exceptions.

3. Equipment.

The recommendation in last report as to furnishing balance of haversacks and straps, necessary, is hereby renewed, as much confusion is caused by the improper substitution now necessary. A marked improvement was noticed in the care of equipment, especially side arms, the waist belt plates being exceptionally well polished.

4. Clothing.

This Company was fully equipped with new outfit last August; it has been generally very well cared for, and presented very good appearance, except a few hats, which had evidently been worn off duty.

5. Camp and Garrison Equipage. (a) tentage, (b) mess outfit.

(a) 37 Shelter halves on hand, shortage of 3 due by Captain C. R. Jones, in fair condition, 3 slightly torn.

(b) One "Improved Buzzacott," in good condition, fittings not complete, a relic of the looseness in management on Practice March; 4 of the missing pieces were found at Anthem, they having been sent to Co. "F," by former Regimental Commander in error. The shortage on meat cans and tin cups, at last Inspection still existing.

6. Efficiency, Discipline and Appearance.

A very marked improvement was noticed in this company since last Inspection, and Lieut. Kunkle deserves credit for this and for having taken up much of the property which Captain Jones was short at the last Inspection. Improvement in military courtesy noticeable. With the poor example set them by Cadet Corps in this respect, this is especially deserving of mention. Trumpeters, best in the Regiment. Company alignment good, decided improvement over last Inspection. There is also a commendable improvement in the proper appreciation of property responsibility among all concerned.

7. Instruction, theoretical and practical.

Good.

8. Nature and amount of drills.

10 Drills held since last Inspection, of 1 hour duration each, and an average attendance of 26.8, or 74.5 per cent. of average strength of Company during that period. The ceremony of Inspection was gone through with once each month during said period. 1st Lieutenant was present at all of the 10 drills and 2nd Lieutenant at 7.

9. Armory.

No change since last report, except that alterations to building have now been completed.

10. Company Books and Papers.

A very decided improvement was noticed since last Inspection. Last quarterly drill return in very much better shape than former ones.

11. Marking of Equipment.

Will be completed as soon as balance of property is gotten in and lockers assigned.

12. Inspection.

Owing to storm no outdoor drill. Ceremony of Inspection was good, and manual very good. General appearance, very good.

CONCLUSIONS AND RECOMMENDATIONS.

Same remarks as made on last Inspection report are reiterated, except that part of missing property has been taken up. It is to be hoped that in future the granting of extended leaves of absence will be disapproved, as it has been shown in every instance that it operates to the detriment of the service, and if officers are not in a position to attend to their duties, they should be removed.

With property matters finally adjusted, and the good of the service properly protected by avoiding the recurrence of the complications allowed to arise in this company in the past, this should be one of the best companies in the Regiment.

Very respectfully,

CHAS. N. SIMMS,

Lt. Col. 2nd. Infy.,

Ad'l Inspector.

CO. M.

Terra Alta, W. Va., April 23, 1900.

The Brigade Adjutant General.

Charleston, W. Va.

Sir:—

I have the honor to make the following report on the muster and inspection of Co. "M," 1st Infantry, made this date:

1. Strength, Present and Absent.

Total paper strength, 3 officers, 46 enlisted men. Present at Inspection, Captain, Buckner F. Scott; 1st Lieutenant, James S. Lakin; 2nd Lieutenant, Arthur F. Childester, and 32 enlisted men; aggregate 35, or 71.5 per cent. Of the 14 absentees, all were with leave, 1 Sergeant and 8 Privates being out of State temporarily, and 1 Corporal, 1 Trumpeter and 3 privates out of town. 5 Enlistment papers in transit.

2. Armament.

40 Springfield rifles, cal. 45, model 1884, issue June, 1899, in very good condition, defects noted on last inspection having been removed.

3. Equipment.

Same as last inspection, in very good condition.

4. Clothing.

The 12 blouses issued from old stock last year should be held for fatigue work and replaced by new, also 2 prs. trousers. Clothing in good shape, and well cared for.

5. Camp and Garrison Equipage.

Same as last report, in good shape and well cared for. Stores especially well arranged.

6. Efficiency, discipline and appearance.

This company is one of the most efficient in regiment, and general appearance is very good.

Was at a disadvantage at this inspection owing to a number of recruits and the temporary absence from the State of a number of the best men. The Captain has not had as much assistance from Lieutenants as he should have.

7. Instruction, Theoretical and practical.

Both very good.

8. Nature and amount of drills.

From last inspection, November 25th, 1899 to March 31st, 1900, there have been 14 drills of over 1 hour average duration each, with an average attendance of 30, or 68.18 per cent. of the average strength of Company during that period. Drills have been had in Bayonet and setting-up exercises. Captain present at 9, and both Lieutenants at all of the 10 drills.

9. Armory.

Second floor of brick building 45x70 feet, 15 ft. ceiling, for drill room. Well lighted and ventilated by windows, heated by steam, and well lighted by large coal oil lamps at night. No lockers. Storage room about 14 feet square on 3rd floor. Is one of the best armories in State. A new gun rack has been added that is very complete.

10. Company Books and Papers.

In very good shape.

11. Marking of equipment.

In good shape, except that paste furnished with marking set has faded badly in use.

12. Inspection.

Weather too inclement for outdoor drill. Company drilled in armory for about $\frac{3}{4}$ hour, time divided between Captain and Lieutenants. Foot movement and manual good with exception of 3 or 4 recruits. Company steady at Inspection.

CONCLUSIONS AND RECOMMENDATIONS.

The general condition of this Company is very satisfactory. It has been at some disadvantage owing to a number of the men living some distance out of town and being unable to attend drills in bad weather, but these are now being replaced with men living nearer. There is also a lack of appreciation and interest in the Company by the people of the town, which it is hoped can be remedied. Captain Scott is deserving of great credit for his management of the Company, but should have more assistance from his Lieutenants. It is again suggested that the lockers be furnished this company if it can possibly be arranged.

Very respectfully,

CHAS. N. SIMMS,

Lt. Col. 2nd. Infy.,

Ad'l Inspector.

Martinsburg, W. Va., April 28, 1900.

The Brigade Adjutant General.

Charleston, W. Va.

Sir:—

I have the honor to make the following report on the muster and inspection of Co. "E." 1st Infantry, made this date:

1. Strength, Present and Absent.

Total paper strength, 3 officers, 44 enlisted men. Present at Inspection, Captain, Albert J. Moore; 1st Lieutenant, John H. Weddell; 2nd Lieutenant, John N. Parks; Sergeants, 1; Corporals, 3; Musicians 1; Privates, 27; aggregate 35, or 74½ per cent. All of the officers and non-commissioned officers were present, the quota of latter not being complete; owing to changes in Company. Of the 12 absentees, 1 Private was out of town, and 10 out of State, and one Trumpeter out of State, all with leave. One enlistment paper "in transit" since March 8, 1900.

2. Armament.

41 Springfield rifles, cal. 45, Model 1884. 40 of them of issue of June 1899. All in excellent condition, excepting defects existing when received.

3. Equipment.

No change since Inspection of October 28-99, except that 2 blanket bags, 2 pair B. B. shoulder straps, 1 Canteen and 1 Canteen strap, had been "taken up." All well cared for and in good condition. This was only Company where all the straps had been cleaned and oiled. The side arms were in cleanest condition of any company I inspected, even the brass washers on under side of hook attachment on bayonet scabbard having been cleaned. Canteens had been scalded and drained again since last Inspection and were all in good shape.

4. Clothing.

39 Blouses, 20 of which are in good condition, 17 badly worn and only fit for fatigue work, 2 worthless. 38 pairs Trousers, 20 good, 16 badly worn, and 2 worthless. This worn out clothing is kept in good condition, but has really served out its time and should be replaced. 40 Campaign Hats and 40 prs. Leggins, nearly all in very good condition. 40 Ponchos, 3 needing repairs.

5. Camp and Garrison Equipage. (a) tentage. (b) mess outfit.
(a) 40 shelter halves, 1 needing repairs. Need 2 mattocks and helves.
(b) One "Improved Buzzacott" complete, 40 meat cans, 39 each tin cups, knives and forks, and 40 spoons. All serviceable and kept in first class condition: is only Company that has each of these latter articles marked so that issue to each man can be identified.

6. Efficiency, Discipline and Appearance.

This Company has been at a disadvantage lately owing to many of the men having been absent in search of employment, and many of those at home working at night, which with the breaking in of recruits has interfered with the improvement of the Company in drill. The discipline, general appearance, and military courtesy of the Company, are all very good. Since last Inspection, the Captain has been present at all of the 23 drills up to March 31st, 1900, the 1st Lieutenant at 20 and the 2nd Lieutenant at 19, which is a decided improvement in the attendance of the latter officers. This Company is one of the most efficient in the Regiment.

7. Instruction, theoretical and practical.

Very good. The Captain has best military library that I found.

8. Nature and amount of drills.

Since last Inspection, October 28-29 to March 31, 1900, 23 drills were held, of over one hour's duration with an average attendance of 23 men, or 58½ per cent. of the total average strength of Company during that period. Drills have been held in Butt's Manual, and instruction in Guard duty, &c.

9. Armory.

Second story of frame building. Since last Inspection one window has been added at rear, and a couple on side not formerly provided with them. An arc lamp has supplanted coal oil lamps, and a new floor laid on 4 inch studding, on top of old one; windows have been hung with weights, and can now be lowered from top. 70 lockers were secured from the old Co. "I," armory at Charles Town, and have been rebuilt and put in. The improvements have made armory now one of the neatest looking and best equipped in the State, but it is still uncomfortable from heat of laundry below; it is at present only available room in the town that can be procured.

10. Company Books and Papers.

The imperfections noted at last Inspection have all been remedied. Everything in way of papers is systematically arranged, and books are the neatest and most correctly kept that I found in the Regiment. Capt. Moore had prepared the only entirely correct Muster Roll offered me, and he has not had an error on his Drill Reports since last Inspection.

11. Marking of Equipment.

In better shape than any of the Companies in the Regiment.

12. Inspection.

As storms had prevented all the other companies from getting out, and owing to lateness of hour, Company did not drill outside. All movements that could be gone through with in Armory, were satisfactorily executed: at first, some of the recruits caused some confusion, but later on movements were well and properly executed.

Manual was good. It was the steadiest company that I have ever inspected, the alignment was perfect.

CONCLUSIONS AND RECOMMENDATIONS.

During the latter part of February, this Company held an entertainment which they called an "Encampment," netting about $175.00 for the Company fund. A good deal of this has been expended in repairs and alterations, in Armory that the owner refused to make. A great deal of credit is due Captain Moore and others originating and helping to carry out this undertaking, also to the people of the town for their interest and the assistance rendered the company by their patronage in spite of the weather.

Very respectfully,

CHAS. N. SIMMS,

Lt. Col. 2nd. Infy.,

Ad'l Inspector.

CO. C.

Ansted, W. Va., April 13, 1900.

The Brigade Adjutant General,

Charleston, W. Va.

Sir:—

I have the honor to make the following report on the muster and inspection of Co. "C," 2nd Infantry, made this date:

1. Strength, Present and Absent.

Total paper strength, 3 officers, 46 enlisted men. Present at inspection, Officers, 3; Sergeants, 4; Corporals, 1; Mus., 1; Privates, 12. Aggregate 21, or 43 per cent. Of the 27 absentees, 24 privates absent with leave, 1 Mus. out of bounds and 1 Mus. sick, 1 Private absent without leave. One enlistment paper in transit.

2. Armament.

1 Gat. Gun in excellent condition; 50 Springfield Rifles, Cal. 45, 17 of which are new and in excellent condition; 33 are old, out of which number 18 are in good condition, and 15 need more or less attention. Majority of old Rifles enumerated above have been on hand since the organization of the Company.

3. Equipment.

Principally good. Canteens, blanket bags and 22 haversacks, new U. S. issue, regulation straps, 12 old bayonet scabbards in bad condition, 38 new bayonet scabbards with hook attachment. Waist belts and McKeever Cartridge boxes principally old. Waist belt plates needed polishing, and waist belt cartridge boxes need oil and blacking. Equipment all serviceable.

4. Clothing.

Principally new and made to U. S. specifications; State buttons, Campaign hats, leggins and ponchos, new U. S. issue.

5. Camp and Garrison Equipage. (a) tentage. (b) mess outfits.

(a) 50 Shelter Halves of the lot secured from the Government in 1899. All have been used but are serviceable; no mattocks drawn by this Co., otherwise equipment of tools sufficient.

(b) One Improved Buzzacott oven complete, State, last issue (1899). 50 each, meat cans, knives, forks, spoons, and cups, all U. S. issue, new, drawn in July 1899, all serviceable, in good condition.

6. Efficiency, discipline and appearance.

This Company was organized on March 9, 1892. A large per cent of the attendance at inspection were recruits. Captain has had eight years' experience, having enlisted at the organization of the Company on February 9, 1892. his service has been continuous with this Co., except the time he was absent in volunteer service with the 1st W. Va., from May 14, 1898 to Oct. 15, 1898. He is an efficient, capable officer. The 1st Lieut. enlisted on April 1st 1892 and his service has been continuous with this Co., with the exception of two years when he was out of the State. The 2nd Lieut. was enlisted February 9, 1892; his service being continuous with this Co., with the exception of his volunteer service with the 1st W. Va. from May 14, 1898 to Nov. 7, 1898. Two Sergeants of this Co. were in the volunteer service and three Sergeants have had long service in the National Guard. 1st Sergt. is himself a good drill master. Non-commissioned officers generally, seem to have been well selected and are both zealous and intelligent officers. Discipline is good, and general appearance of the Company very fair.

7. Instruction, theoretical and practical.

Very good, except that they have had no guard duty outside of officers school.

8. Nature and amount of Drills.

Officers school held once a week regularly. Since last Inspection 32 regular drills of one hour each have been held, with the usual attendance of 40 per cent of the total strength. Range practice has been held twice and Gatling Gun practice once. No instruction in setting up movements and no system of gymnastic exercises; no outpost duty; no field service or signaling.

9. Armory.

Built for this Company. Main room 100x30, with locker and gun room attached 30x40. Main room has been built some years and needs shingling badly. The locker and gun room is new. In this room there is a property room partitioned off 8x12. Rooms are well lighted, ceilings are high, and room is adequately heated by several large barrel stoves. The locker, gun and property rooms seem to be well secured against theft. Armory is dry and well kept. Lockers are arranged in three rows, two of which are surmounted with gun racks, so arranged that a gun stands directly over each locker. I find a better arrangement for caring for property here than at any Command I have visited in the 2nd Regiment.

10. Company Books and Papers.

Neatly and properly kept, with the exception that letters sent book had not been indexed, and letters received had not been entered in letters received book; retained copies of returns were found in good shape.

11. Marking of Equipment.

All equipment found properly marked and labeled.

12. Inspection.

Inspection was held in the afternoon and the Company drilled on their ground, which is an adjoining field some acres in extent. All movements in the school of the Co. were well and promptly executed. Attendance at Inspection was too small for platoon movements. Manual was well executed, and the general effect of the drill was good. The ceremony of inspection well executed by both officers and men.

CONCLUSIONS AND RECOMMENDATIONS.

The general condition of this Co. is satisfactory, with the exception that too large a per cent. of those carried on the roll are unable to attend drill and should be dropped. The Captain, one Lieutenant, several Sergeants, and a few of the men of this Company, were with the 1st W. Va. Vol. Infy. for some months and are therefore unusually proficient, forming a nucleus around which good material is gathering. Being principally miners, gymnastic exercises are not especially needed. "General Orders for Sentinels" should be repeated aloud by the Co. at each drill, and men should be encouraged to read the "National Guard in Service" and other authorities, especially on subjects of hygiene and interior economy of Co. A Gatling Gun squad should be selected and drilled until they are thoroughly familiar with their duties as such. The esprit de corps of this Co. is more marked than of any Command visited by me. There are at this point eight officers of the National Guard.

Very respectfully,

C. C. LEWIS, Jr.,
Major, Inspector General.

CO. G.

Huntington, West Va., April 19, 1900.

The Brigade Adjutant General.

Charleston, W. Va.

Sir:—

I have the honor to report on the muster and inspection of Co. "G," 2nd Infy., made this date, as follows:

1. Strength, Present and Absent.

Total paper strength, two officers and forty-seven enlisted men. Present at inspection, two officers, five sergeants, two corporals, two musicians and twenty-two privates; aggregate thirty-one. Absent with leave, twelve privates; without leave, one private; sick, two privates; aggregate absent at inspection, fifteen privates.

2. Instruction.

Good. Efficient non-commissioned officers and musicians, who evidently have been properly instructed.

3. Military Appearance.

Good. Officers and enlisted men made good appearance at inspection, and seemed to take an interest in their respective duties.

4. Discipline.

Good.

5. Arms.

Forty-one Springfield Rifles, cal. 45, Model 1884, principally. In fair condition only. These rifles had been greased with proper material, but had not been wiped off for inspection and dirt had accumulated thereon. Some few were rusty.

6. Equipment.

The same conditions exist as on last inspection, except canteens had evidently been drained since, and were in fair condition. One waist belt plate short at inspection.

7. Clothing.

Forty-four blouses in very poor condition, principally wornout or needing repairs; Trousers, thirty-three, (two short at inspection) in same condition as blouses; Campaign hats, thirty-one, (ten short at inspection) in fair condition, only, considering that they were issued in June, 1899. As soon as it is possible this company should be supplied with new uniforms, and the old ones retained to use as a second suit; Forty-one pairs leggings, and thirty-nine ponchos,—good condition.

8. Camp and Garrison Equipage.

Tentage, thirty-nine shelter halves, condition fairly good, needing airing, which was directed to be done.

Mess Outfit, one Buzzacott stove, complete, thirty-seven meat cans, forty-one tin cups, thirty-two knives, thirty-three forks, and thirty-seven spoons. Condition good, except knives and forks, which were rusty. These knives and forks should be scoured and greased. This should have been done with all of the mess outfit when last stored away.

9. Armory.

The same as used prior to and at last inspection. Armory is supplied with lockers, property of Co., but the locks on each are very poor and unsafe. The commanding officer of this Company should be authorized to purchase in place of these, good, safe and substantial locks. As I understand it, the members of the Co. are willing to turn the lockers over to the State, if it has not already been done. Unless good locks are placed on these lockers, it is impossible to safely care and protect the company property in so small an Armory.

10. Co. Records.

Letter Received Book properly kept, with few small errors. Otherwise, records were well kept. Military correspondence fairly well conducted. Commanding Officer showed interest in the administrative work.

11. Marking of Equipment.

Not entirely carried out, but commanding officer assured the inspector that all property should be properly marked as soon as Spring months arrived, as he and his men would then have more time to do the work.

12. Muster.

Properly conducted.

13. Inspection.

Ceremonies properly conducted with few exceptions, which is generally true in the companies not drilling daily. After inspection the company was drilled in the street for about one hour. In this, movements were fairly well executed, and it was demonstrated that the commanding officer had required his Lieutenant and non-com. officers to drill the company, as they handled the company fairly well when required to drill it.

GENERAL REMARKS.

There should be a little more system about the caring for and protecting company property. Property should be so arranged that it could be readily secured if company should be called out. Where companies have lockers sufficient, each man should be required to occupy one certain locker, which should be numbered and assigned to him. This is not done in this company, two or three men using one locker.

Blanket Bags, Haversacks and Canteens should at all times be supplied with all necessary straps, which should be attached to the article to which it belongs. This is not done in this Company.

Very respectfully,

W. W. SCOTT,

Maj 1st Infy.,

Ad'l Inspector.

CO. H.

Huntington, W. Va., April 20, 1900.

The Brigade Adjutant General.

Charleston, W. Va.

Sir:—

I have the honor to submit my report of the muster and inspection of Company "H," 2nd Infantry, made this date as follows:

1. Strength. Present and Absent.

Total paper strength, three officers and thirty-three enlisted men. Present at inspection, three officers, six sergeants four corporals, two musicians and twelve privates; aggregate, twenty-seven. Absent at inspection, with leave, six privates, without leave, one private, and sick, two privates. Aggregate, nine privates.

2. Arms.

Forty Springfield rifles, cal. 45, Model 1884, in excellent condition, for inspection and use.

3. Equipment.

Good, used, but in good condition, except haversack straps, which are very poor; some are of fair and some of black leather; all have the appearance of age and being rotten with age. These straps were issued in this condition last January, and on invoice are said to be "new," but were certainly old straps at that time named "new." Equipment, with the exception of the haversack strap, is servicable and sufficient.

4. Clothing.

Forty uniforms complete; all in good condition, good as new, and neatly and exceptionally well cared for in Armory.

5. Camp and Garrison Equipage.

Tentage, shelter halves in good condition, used. Tools sufficient. Mess outfit, one Buzzacott oven complete, with complete mess outfit for forty men; all servicable and in good condition.

6. Instruction.

Fair, but will improve, as Commanding Officer, Lieutenants and non-com. officers seem studious and anxious to learn.

7. Discipline and Appearance.

Good for a new company, and as the method of instruction improves, so will the discipline and appearance of the company. Men interested in military study and work.

8. Armory.

Third floor of brick building, about 70x80 feet, with convenient office room for commanding officer, and large property room. Lighted with gas; high ceiling and plenty of windows, making good ventilation. Forty small lockers and an improvised rifle rack. The commanding officer of this company has company property divided into forty small parcels; each parcel containing a complete outfit for one man in condition ready for use. Each parcel has a number, (and each article of the parcel has the same number), which corresponds with a number placed above a large nail driven in the wall of the property room, on which the complete outfit is hung. Each man in the company has a number and outfit of property corresponding to his number assigned to him, and in the event of the company being called into service the commanding officer can have his company ready to move in a few minutes. Rifles are arranged in a rack which is likewise numbered. Property room is kept safely locked and all property kept therein. The commanding officer is certainly to be complimented upon the arrangement of property in property room, and the way he had his property arranged for inspection, having it all placed on floor of Armory so it could be easily inspected and counted readily.

9. Company Records.

Not properly kept, but the prospect for improvement is bright, and the records of this company should be in far better shape by next semi-annual inspection.

10. Marking of Equipment.

Almost entirely carried out according to instructions, campaign hats at this time about the only exception, and the commanding officer assured the Inspector that they would soon be properly marked, in accordance with G. O. No. 7, B. H. c. s.

11. Muster and Inspection.

Muster and Inspection ceremonies only fairly well conducted and executed. After inspection, company was drilled for about thirty minutes in school of the company; all movements school of the company were not executed, and those executed were only fairly well done. Manual was good with few exceptions.

GENERAL REMARKS.

This company, with experience, will improve. The method and system of caring for company property and its arrangement in Armory is respectfully recommended to be followed by other company commanders.

Very respectfully,

W. W. SCOTT,

Maj 1st Inf'ty.,

Ad'l Inspector.

CO. I.

Huntington, West Va., April 21st, 1900.

The Brigade Adjutant General,

Charleston, W. Va.

Sir:—

I have the honor to report on the muster and inspection of Co. "I," 2nd Inf'ty., made this date, as follows:

1. Strength, Present and Absent.

Total paper strength, three officers, fifty-three enlisted men. Present at inspection, two officers, three sergeants, one musician, and twenty-one privates; aggregating twenty-seven. Absent at inspection, with leave, one officer, one sergeant, one musician and seventeen privates; aggregate twenty. Without leave, one sergeant and eight privates; aggregate, nine.

2. Arms.

Forty-four Springfield Rifles, cal. 45, Model 1884, in good condition, with few exceptions.

3. Equipment.

In good condition, serviceable and sufficient, with exception of canteen straps, which should be replaced with a stronger strap. Gun slings, some black leather and some fair leather. These straps should be of one color.

4. Clothing.

Forty-one blouses, twenty-two in good condition and nineteen needing repairs. Trousers, thirty-nine, thirty-five serviceable and in good condition; four needing repairs. Forty-nine campaign hats, (six short at inspection) in fairly good condition; forty-six leggins, prs., (seven short at inspection) in good condition.

5. Camp and Garrison Equipage.

Tentage, forty shelter halves, condition good, used. Tools sufficient; Mess outfit, one Buzzacott stove complete, State issue of 1899. Forty meat cans, forty-three tin cups forty-four knives, forty-three forks and forty-four spoons, all U. S. issue of 1899. All serviceable and in good condition.

6. Discipline and Instruction.

Very good. Non-commissioned officers and trumpeter competent. The general appearance of the company good.

7. Armory.

Same as used prior to and at last inspection, well lighted by gas but not kept very clean.

8. Company Records.

Properly kept, and in good order.

9. Marking of Equipment.

Not entirely carried out according to instructions, but commanding officer assured the Inspector that it would be soon completed.

10. Muster.

Well conducted.

11. Inspection.

Ceremonies were exceptionally well executed, no errors. Arms, clothing and accoutrements in good condition for inspection.

GENERAL REMARKS.

This company is in very good condition, and the only thing to suggest is, that a little more system be used in caring for company property. No property should be taken from Armory unless for some special reason, and then an accurate record should be made of it, and for what reason it was taken from Armory. Company, owing to the weather, was not drilled on the street, but the execution of the manual of arms in Armory, was very good.

Very respectfully,

W. W. SCOTT,

Maj 1st Infy.,

Ad'l Inspector.

(J)

CO. L.

Parkersburg, W. Va., April, 24, 1900.

The Brigade Adjutant General.

Charleston, W. Va.

Sir:—

I have the honor to report on the muster and inspection of Company "L," Second Infantry, made this date, as follows:

1. Strength, Present and Absent.

Total paper strength, three officers and thirty-seven enlisted men. Present at inspection, two officers, two sergeants, two corporals, and two musicians. Absent at inspection, with leave, one officer, two sergeants, one corporal and two privates. Absent without leave, two sergeants, ten privates, and sick, one private. Total present at inspection, twenty-one, and total absent at inspection, nineteen.

2. Arms and Equipment.

Forty Springfield rifles, in good condition; different Models. Equipment in good condition. Haversack straps rotten and not servicable. Arms and equipment fairly well cared for, and required to be kept in Armory with few exceptions.

3. Clothing.

Thirty-nine blouses, thirty-eight trousers, thirty-eight campaign hats, and forty leggins, all in good condition, servicable.

4. Camp and Garrison Equipage.

Tentage, shelter halves, used, in good condition; tools sufficient. Mess outfit, one Buzzacott stove complete, and mess outfit for thirty-nine men, servicable and in good condition.

5. Discipline and Appearance.

Fair, in need of constant drilling.

6. Instruction.

Only fair; company in need of a good instructor. At present the Captain is away on leave, and the Second Lieutenant has only recently reported for duty (reported on April 23rd,) and the First Lieutenant has had the entire work to do, including all clerical work besides clerical work in the medical department. Lieutenant Coffman is a deserving officer, but it is not just to him or to the company to require so much of him. The other officers should lend assistance, and if it is necessary for them, especially the Captain, to be away from the Company station all the time, they should resign or some arrangement be made to better care for the interests of the company during their absence.

7. Armory.

Same as used prior to and at last inspection.

8. Company Records.

Kept in a neat way, but a few errors owing to wrong instructions being received by the commanding officer. Otherwise, records were well kept.

9. Marking of Equipment.

Not carried out according to instructions, but part of property marked. Commanding officer properly instructed in the work, and it will be taken up now and completed.

10. Muster and Inspection.

Muster fairly well conducted. Inspection ceremonies poorly conducted and executed. Company had never been drilled in ceremonies before that evening; or at least it had been some time since they had been drilled in inspection ceremonies. Company needs proper instruction. Lt. Coffman is kept busy with the clerical work, and will soon have a very nice set of records, therefore he should have some assistance in the other part of the work.

Very respectfully,

W. W. SCOTT,

Maj 1st Infy.,

Ad'l Inspector.

CO. E.

Parkersburg, W. Va., April 25, 1900.

The Brigade Adjutant General,

Charleston, West Va.

Sir:—

I have the honor to make the following report on the muster and inspection of Co. "E," Second Infantry, made this date.

There was so small a number present for inspection that the ceremonies of inspection were dispensed with and a non-commissioned officer required to drill them for a short time, there not being a squad present.

Captain Cramer will, I think, now make an effort to resurrect the company. He had, prior to my visit to Parkersburg, commenced the work and the night of the inspection secured two or three new men. Major Morrison informed me that it would be no trouble to recruit the company up to the required number of good men, as he knew of several who were going to enlist and would have before this but he had no enlistment papers.

After consultation with Major Morrison and Capt. Cramer, I believe it would be advisable to retain this company for at least one more quarter and give it that time to revive. If no progress is made in that time, you can act as you think best.

As to inspection of property, it was made and the returns herewith enclosed will explain the result, but speaking generally, I will say that it is in the same condition as at last inspection, except three pair trousers, old ones, might probably be a little the worse by reason of moth. When the clothing was inspected it was carefully put away with plenty of moth balls between the articles not going to be in use by the men of the company.

Company Records properly kept with few exceptions, which commanding officer claimed were in accordance with practice in the U. S. Volunteer service.

Rifles in good condition, as was also all equipments except canteens, a few of which were rusty, not having been well drained when last used.

Clothing very carelessly kept in lockers; no hooks or nails on which to hang blouse or trousers.

Armory the same as used prior to and at last inspection.

In conclusion, I would say that Capt. Cramer is a competent officer, and there is no reason why he cannot, in a city like Parkersburg, recruit and maintain his company if he can find time to give to the work.

Very respectfully,

W. W. SCOTT,

Maj 1st Inf'ty.,

Ad'l Inspec'r.

(L)

CO. F.

Milton, W. Va., April 28, 1900.

The Brigade Adjutant General,
Charleston, West Va.

Sir:—

I have the honor to report on the muster and inspection of Co. "F," 2nd Infy., made this date, as follows:

1. Strength. Present and Absent.

Total paper strength, 3 officers, 51 enlisted men. Present at inspection, Officers, 3; Sergts., 1; Corpl., 3; Privates, 11. Aggregate 18, or 33 1-3 per cent. Of the 36 absentees, 3 Sergts. absent with leave; one Sergt. out of bounds; 3 Corpls. and 2 Musens. absent with leave; 11 Privates absent with leave; 2 Privates absent without leave; 13 Privates out of bounds and 1 Private sick. A very short notice of this inspection was given the Commanding Officer, which together with the fact that a large number of the enlisted men are employed by the C. & O. Railway, and were, on this date, off on a work train, accounts for the small attendance above stated.

2. Armament.

50 Springfield rifles, Cal. 45, 47 of which are model of '84 and 3 model of '73. All in excellent condition for inspection.

3. Equipment.

Blanket Bags, Haversacks, Canteens and Ponchos principally new, U. S. issue, and in good condition, with the exception of Haversack straps, some of which are rotten. Waist belts and McKeever cartridge boxes old and need oil and blacking. Bayonet scabbards very old and generally rusty.

4. Clothing.

Blouses and trousers very old and ill fitting, as a rule. Needed cleaning badly. Commanding Officer informs me that they have been in use since the organization of the Company some years ago. Campaign hats, leggins and ponchos in very fair condition.

5. Camp and Garrison Equipage. (a) tentage, (b) mess outfits.

(a) 40 shelter halves of the lot secured from the Government in 1899; not serviceable in wet weather. Equipment of tools sufficient. (b) One Buzzacott oven, old issue. Meat cans, tin cups, knives, forks and spoons, new, U. S. issue and in good condition.

6. Efficiency, Discipline and Appearance.

Captain, has had 8 years continuous service in the Guard, is a fair Drill Master and a zealous officer. The 1st. Lieut., has had 5 years continuous service with this Company and has been for 18 months an officer. 2nd Lieut., has had one year's service and has just been promoted. Non-commissioned officers needing instruction. Discipline fair and appearance fair.

7. Nature and Amount of Drills.

Since last inspection 15 drills of one hour's duration have been held. No target practice.

8. Instruction, theoretical and practical.

Only fair; no officers or non-commissioned officers schools held since last inspection. No guard duty and no instruction in hygiene or interior economy of Company.

9. Armory.

One story frame building, formerly used as an amusement hall drill room 31x58 feet with good high ceiling; well lighted and well ventilated. Property room 12x16, only fairly well secured against theft. Armory is dry and well kept.

10. Company Books and Papers.

Not properly kept. Special instruction given in paper work with a view to improvement.

11. Marking of Equipment.

Properly done, with the exception of Campaign hats.

12. Inspection.

The ceremony of inspection, well conducted and executed. After inspection Company was drilled on grounds adjoining the Armory for about 30 minutes in school of the Company, foot movements and manual of arms very fair, with the exception of a few recruits.

CONCLUSIONS AND RECOMMENDATIONS.

General condition of the Company better than at last inspection; method of caring for property much improved. Blanket bags, haversacks and canteens should at all times have straps attached and, with other property, be so arranged as to enable each man to equip himself in heavy marching order in the shortest possible time, in case of an emergency call. I recommend that this Company be issued a full supply of new blouses and trousers. I would also recommend that "General Orders For Sentinels" be repeated aloud at each drill, and that the men be encouraged to read "Customs of the Service," "The National Guard in Service" and other suitable text-books.

Very respectfully,

C. C. LEWIS, Jr.,

Major, Inspector General.

1ST BAT., 1ST INFY.

Summary of the Report of Col. Macker Babb, Detailed as Inspecting Officer with 1st Bat., 1st Infy.

The Practice March of the 1st Bat., 1st Infy. was begun on August 9, 1899, and concluded on the 18th inst.

Major W. W. Scott commanded the battalion, which consisted of Companies "C," "F," "G," and "M." The orders of the Battalion Commander fixed 2 o'clock P. M., as the hour for taking up the march, but unforeseen delays in loading baggage and stores, due to inexperience rather than other causes, delayed the start two hours. "The Quartermaster's and Commissary's departments though somewhat disorganized at first were soon put in fine condition. The train was completely organized, a wagon assigned to each Company and the rest so distributed as to give the best possible service. The teams employed gave first-class service. The officers and enlisted men connected with these departments took great pride in making a good showing."

ROUTE OF MARCH.

The line of march as previously selected by the Battalion Commander was from Fairmont to Terra Alta, a distance of 42 miles. This selection had elements of disadvantage as well as of advantage. The welcome which was extended officers and men by the inhabitants along the route was agreeable, and the excellent water which was always at hand was naturally highly desirable. The disadvantages presented by this route were found mainly in the rough and indifferent roads and the long distance for the time allowed in which to make the march, though in the end these features served a useful purpose in testing the endurance and soldierly qualities of the command.

INCIDENTS OF THE MARCH.

The weather at the time of starting was very warm, and most of the men not being accustomed to severe exercise in the sun found some difficulty in marching. "It was found that men fresh from their occupations, most of which were indoors, could not march more than 15 miles per day without becoming exhausted. However, on the return they marched 25 miles without more difficulty than was experienced in covering 15 miles going out. The return route was changed a little from that traveled going out and the distance was somewhat greater, but the change was justified by having a better road." The complement of supplies was sufficient. The only serious deficiency being in the matter of blankets, the supply of which was entirely inadequate. There were two cases of exhaustion on the march though neither of these cases were serious. Medical attendance was furnished by contract Surgeons in the absence of the regular Surgeon attached to the battalion, who was prevented from attending the battalion by illness.

EQUIPMENT AND MILITARY APPEARANCE.

"Each enlisted man wore a blue uniform, regulation, with service hat and leggins, was armed with a Springfield rifle and accoutrements, and equipped with knife, fork, spoon, canteen, meat can, blanket, blanket bag, haversack, poncho, and shelter half. They at first carried all this but the extreme heat made it impracticable to require it, so they were allowed to load the blanket, and blanket bag and contents on the wagons. They were then able to march at a good pace with a reasonable power of endurance. Some of the enlisted men had provided themselves with blue flannel shirts, and had all been thus provided, they might have been allowed, in view of the excessive heat, to remove the blouse on the march. Some also wore shoes with rubber soles and others had thin leather soles." Lack of uniformity in the matter of flannel shirts and shoes, is due to the fact that the State does not provide these articles. It is recommended that the same be furnished by the State.

GENERAL OBSERVATIONS AND RECOMMENDATIONS.

"On the march exercises were had in advance and rear guard, but in this instance the great distance to be covered within a given time and the extreme unevenness of the country made it necessary to limit these exercises. Neither was there time in camp for exercises in outpost duty, there being not quite time for the men to fire the prescribed allowance of ammunition.

"The building of the Range and the target firing was under the direction of Lieut. Charles W. Cole, Co. "I," 2nd Infy., who, was detailed as Range Officer. The work was efficiently performed and great care taken to prevent accidents."

"In conclusion I have the honor to state that this practice march has been the source of much material good to the officers and enlisted men of the 1st Bat. This was particularly noticeable in the increased respect shown during the latter part of the march by enlisted men to officers. Then, too, the old idea that membership in the National Guard is to be retained merely to have a holiday or picnic occasion once a year has largely disappeared, and all are realizing that the outlay is made in order to train an effective force to serve the State in time of need. It was also noted that non-commissioned officers have not had thorough instruction in their respective duties as such. They are not made to feel that in their position, they have authority over those below them in rank just as they recognize the authority of an officer. Company officers are largely responsible for this condition of affairs."

3RD BAT., 1ST INFY.

Summary of the Report of Col. Macker Babb, Detailed as Inspecting Officer with 3rd Bat., 1st Infy.

The Practice March of Third Battalion, 1st Infy., was begun August 22nd, and concluded Aug. 31, 1899. This Battalion was composed of Companies "E," "H," and "L," and was commanded by Lieut. Col. R. B. Ash. The duties of Quartermaster and Commissary Officer were efficiently performed by 1st Lieut. W. H. Fredlock. 1st Lieut. C. W. Cole, 2nd Infy., rendered satisfactory service as Range Officer. 1st Lieut. George E. Gramm, Quartermaster, 1st Infy., acted as Adjutant.

ROUTE OF MARCH.

The march as previously selected was from Keyser to Romney, a distance of about 27 miles, and was over good roads though the amount of dust was excessive and distressing.

INCIDENTS OF THE MARCH.

"The distances had been arranged so that on the day of rendezvous the battalion marched 5 miles, the next day 10 miles and the third day 12 miles. These were easy marches yet when the command reached camp each day they were pretty thoroughly tired. There was but one case of prostration due to excessive heat. The return march was arranged for a different route, 18 miles, and the distance was covered in one day. The last day being used by the Companies in reaching their respective stations."

THE ENCAMPMENT.

The order and discipline was good. Range practice was limited to 500 yards a longer range not being obtainable within reasonable distance from the camp. "The range used was a very good one, except that the firing point at one hundred yards, was considerably lower than the target. The work connected with it was efficiently performed, and care taken to prevent accidents."

EQUIPMENT.

"Each enlisted man wore a regulation fatigue uniform, with campaign hat and leggings, was armed with Springfield rifle and accoutrements, and equipped with knife, fork, spoon, cup, meat can, canteen, blanket, blanket bag, haversack, poncho, and shelter half. They were allowed to load blanket bag on wagons, during the march.

CONCLUDING REMARKS.

Exercises in advance and rear guard were not conducted on this march. The prescribed rests for the men were not accurately observed, the periods between rests being too long. The duties of Inspector during the last three days of the march were performed by Major Thomas E. Hodges, of the Brigade Staff, vice Col. Babb, who was excused from duty for this period.

"The Practice Marches have been the source of much benefit to the battalions which engaged in them. They have brought to both officers and men a truer realization of the duties they will be expected to perform in case they are called into service."

"Officers and non-commissioned officers have not yet learned to require that quick and accurate obedience which is essential to a well appointed military organization. It is especially noticeable in the difficulty experienced in getting men to pay proper attention to minor matters of courtesy. This difficulty would be greatly lessened if the company officers would take up the proper and thorough instruction of their non-commissioned officers."

"Three of the companies of the First Infantry which went on Practice March this year are new organizations, and many of the members of the old companies are recruits. It is gratifying to note the better class of men coming into the Guard by these latter enlistments. It is also noticeable that the best service was, as a rule, obtained from recruits."

1ST BAT., 2ND INFY.,

Summary of the Report of Col. Joseph A. Parker, Detailed as Inspecting Officer with 1st Battalion, 2nd Infantry.

The practice march of the 1st Bat., 2nd Infy., begun the morning of July the 28th, 1899, and was concluded upon the expiration of the ten days fixed by Orders. Maj. Charles E. Morrison commanded the Battalion, which consisted of Companies "I," and "G," of Huntington, and Companies "E," and "L," of Parkersburg. The companies from Huntington were transported by rail to Parkersburg, where the Battalion was mobilized before taking up the march. The arrangements for the Hospital Corps with the Battalion were satisfactory, and the corps was under the command of 1st Lieut. H. M. Patton, Assistant Surgeon. Lieut. Col. Charles N. Simms, representing the Adjutant General's Office, was also present with the Battalion during the march. The Quartermaster had made satisfactory arrangements for a train to accompany the Battalion, which consisted of eight two-horse wagons and one ambulance. The line of march was from Parkersburg to Elizabeth, a distance of about twenty-six miles, and was over roads that were in fair condition, though rough and hilly in many places. An abundance of good water was available along the route.

INCIDENTS OF THE MARCH.

The Battalion took up the march at six o'clock on the morning of July 28th, from City Park, in Parkersburg, where it had gone into camp for the preceding night. It moved ten and one-half miles that day, without special incident, to a point known as Mount Zion Church, where camp was pitched for the remainder of the day and the night following.

The march was resumed next day, and continued to Elizabeth. It had been intended to march but part of the distance that day, but such progress was made that the Battalion Commander found it feasible and advisable to conclude the march during the day. The return march was without special incident, except a heavy rainfall, which overtook the Battalion just before it reached Parkersburg.

But one case of sickness during the march. The Command stood the march well, and was in good condition after it had been concluded. Exercises were properly conducted in advance and rear guard during the progress of the march, but no flankers were put out on account of the roughness of the country traversed.

THE ENCAMPMENT.

The camp site was on the outskirts of the town of Elizabeth, and desirably located in what is known as "Roberts Grove," which site was furnished free of cost by the owner of the property. The ground was well covered with grass, and very solid. A heavy rainstorm came up soon after the Battalion went into camp, and it was quickly demonstrated that the shelter tents are not water proof, and do not furnish proper shelter to the enlisted men. Inspection of Quarters made by the Battalion Commander, accompanied by Lieut. Col. Simms and the Inspector, found the camp in good condition and properly laid out.

The parades which were held each evening were well conducted, the ceremonies attending the same being nearly perfect. The excellence shown from this exercise, as in other respects, during the march and encampment of this Battalion, may be properly ascribed to the fact that the Battalion Commander and Staff, and nearly all of the Company Officers, as well as a great number of the enlisted men, had experienced service during the Spanish-American War as members of the First W. V. V. L.

Target practice was begun on the morning of July 31st, and consumed the greater part of the time of the encampment. It had been the intention to have four targets, one for each company, but three only were used, as one of the pits had to be abandoned because it had become filled with water owing to heavy rains. Further rains interfered with the practice, and gave trouble by the pits becoming partly filled with water. Firing was at graduated ranges during the days of practice, beginning with one hundred and two hundred yard ranges, and concluding with five hundred yard range, the longest that could be gotten at the camp site. The enlisted men who failed to qualify at the two hundred yard range were properly given sighting lessons, with good results. The range practice was not entirely completed, because of the constantly recurring rainstorms. The practice was successfully conducted under the direction of 1st Lieut. Cole, who acted as range officer.

The Commissary arrangements during the march and in the camp were good.

INSPECTION.

Battalion inspection of arms and equipment was made by the Inspector on the morning of August the 5th. Present: Battalion Commander, with Staff fully equipped. Equipment in good condition.

COMPANY "D."

"Commanded by Capt. J. E. Verlander, located at Huntington. Total paper strength, 77; present in camp, 3 officers and 41 enlisted men; absent with leave, 11 men; absent without leave, 22 men. Arms, 44 Springfield Rifles, 1878 and 1884 models; 40 shelter tent halves; clothing and equipment in very good condition. On account of rifles and clothing getting wet from rain the evening before, and scarcity of cleaning material, they were not as clean as they should be under different circumstances. The Company is well officered. Most of its members had service with the 1st W. V. V. I. in the war with Spain."

COMPANY "E."

"Commanded by Capt. Jesse L. Cramer, located at Parkersburg. Total paper strength, 37; present in camp, 2 officers and 15 enlisted men; absent with leave, 13; absent without leave, 7. Clothing and equipment in fairly good condition, except one gun, which was unfit for use, and a few coats slightly torn by use of the rifle in drill. This Company needs closer attention from the Commanding Officer."

"While the officers of this Company are efficient, having had service in the war with Spain in the 1st W. V. V. I., the attendance at this camp does not show the Company to be in a healthy condition."

COMPANY "G."

"Commanded by Capt. L. H. Sabel; located at Huntington. Total paper strength, 51; present in camp, 1 officer and 39 enlisted men. One officer sick at home. Absent with leave, 5; absent without leave, 5. Arms, model 1884; shelter tent halves, 40; arms and equipment in fairly good condition. Two men in rank with no cartridge boxes on their belts, and one man without waist belt. The clothing in this Company is in bad condition; needs entire new outfit of clothing. Commanding officer has seen service in the war with Spain, and is well posted, and a good officer."

"Commanded by Capt. Austin H. Brown; located at Parkersburg. Total paper strength, 46; present in camp, 3 officers and 35 enlisted men; absent with leave, 2; absent without leave, 1 enlisted man, who left camp; 5 men enlisted in 31st U. S. Vol. Infy., July 24th, 1899; Arms, 18 Springfield rifles, model of 1884; and 21, (model of 1878); 39 shelter tent halves."

"Uniforms and equipments in good condition, except like others were wet from rain the evening before, and did not make as nice an appearance as would have done under different circumstances. The attendance speaks well for the Company, and while it is one of the new companies, its officers are zealous, and will soon bring it to the forefront in point of efficiency."

CONCLUDING REMARKS.

The First Battalion, can be relied upon by the State, in every emergency, to do good service, and being located on direct lines of Railroads, can be mobilized at Huntington or Parkersburg in from three to five hours after orders are received.

Practice marches are commended as being instructive and therefore beneficial, and it is recommended that they be continued from time to time, but not with the idea of abandoning Regimental and Brigade encampments, which are recommended to be had before further practice marches are ordered.

2ND BAT., 2ND INFY.

Summary of the Report of Col. Joseph A. Parker, Detailed as Inspecting Officer with 2nd Battalion, 2nd Infantry.

The 2nd Bat., 2nd Inf., embracing Cos. "A," of Bluefield, "F," of Milton and "M," of Charleston, and commanded by Major D. L. Irwin was mobilized at Ruffner on the outskirts of Charleston on the afternoon of August 22, 1899, when it proceeded on Practice March. A satisfactory train consisting of five two-horse wagons and one ambulance had been provided by the Quartermaster. 1st Lieut. C. C. Hogg, Assistant Surgeon, and one Hospital Steward afforded the necessary medical attendance. Lieut. Col. Chas. N. Simms, representing the Adjutant General's Office, was also in attendance in such official capacity.

THE MARCH.

The route of march as previously selected, extended up the Kanawha river to Hughes Creek, and to a point about one mile from Roe Post Office, a total distance of about twenty-six miles. The march was not begun until 4:35 P. M. on the date named above, but six miles were covered before camp was pitched for the night. A fourteen mile march was made the next day between the hours of 7:00 A. M. and 1:30 P. M., when camp was again pitched. This camp site was not well located being too far off the main route, but its selection was necessitated in order to get good water. On the next and third day of the march six miles were again covered between the hours of 7:05 and 10:00 A. M., and the place of encampment reached.

The Commissary and Messing arrangements were satisfactory. Each Company supplied with a complete mess outfit, and a company cook detailed. The officers' meals were furnished at private boarding houses at prices ranging from 17 2-9 cts. to 25 cts. per meal. The march was conducted in the manner prescribed by Regulations with advance and rear guard, though flankers were not used because of the roughness of the country. Some trouble experienced because of failure of Commands to keep proper distance.

THE ENCAMPMENT.

The site of the encampment of the Battalion had been well selected, and its use was donated. Water supply, good and sufficient. Bathing facilities, very good. The site was particularly good with respect to rifle range, up to 500 yards, a natural hill for a break, precluding any danger whatever from stray or ricochet shots.

The first day and a half in camp was largely consumed in the preparation of targets which had devolved upon the Command, and which was rendered somewhat difficult by the scarcity of suitable timber. Inspection of quarters made by the Battalion Commander, accompanied by Lieut. Col. Simms and the Inspector found the camp and quarters in very good condition, with the exception of several badly soiled blankets which had to be sent out of camp to be washed.

Range practice at 100 yards was begun on the afternoon of August 26th and continued throughout the encampment at the various ranges from 100 up to 500 yards. The 600 yard allowance of ammunition having been fired at 500 yard range, as suitable ground could not be secured for firing at 600 yards. Range practice was well conducted and showed considerable skill on the part of a large portion of the Command. Parades were held at stated times, and while far from perfect at their inception, much improvement was shown during their progress. The Battalion broke camp on the afternoon of August 28th, when it proceeded on the return march, which was made without particular incident."

INSPECTION.

"On August 31st, Inspection of arms and equipment was held by the Inspector at 9:00 A.-M. Present: Major D. L. Irwin and Staff, except Asst. Surgeon and Quartermaster. Asst. Surgeon suffering with sore feet. All fairly equipped."

COMPANY "A."

"Commanded by Captain W. W. Anderson. Total paper strength, 45. Officers present, 2. Enlisted men present, 36. Absent with leave, 2; without leave, 5. Each enlisted man fully uniformed, supplied with Springfield Rifle, Bayonet Scabbard, Cartridge Box, Waist Belt, Haversack, Canteen, Blanket Bag, Blanket, Poncho, Meat Can, Tin Cup, Knife, Fork and Spoon, and one-half shelter tent. The blankets were issued for the march only, and taken up when camp broke. Clothing and equipment in good condition. This Company is in very satisfactory condition. Captain had service in war with Spain and is a very good officer. Nine of the enlisted men have also had service in the war with Spain. Captain Anderson is also a very efficient Range Officer and acted in that capacity during Range Practice."

COMPANY "F."

"Commanded by Captain B. L. Perry. Total Paper strength, 63. Officers present at Inspection, 3. Enlisted men, 49. Absent without leave, 9. Each enlisted man present fully equipped, except blankets, which were supplied for this march only. The Springfield Rifles, Models 1873 and 1884, in bad condition. Clothing old; needs entire new outfit. Four enlisted men in this Company had service in the war with Spain.

COMPANY "M."

"Commanded by Captain C. C. Rand. Total paper strength, 45. Present at Inspection, Officers, 3. Enlisted men, 20. Absent without leave, 12. With leave, 10. Each enlisted man fully equipped, except blankets which were issues for this march and taken up. Clothing and equipment in good condition, clothing being comparatively new, received in January, 1899. One enlisted man had service in the war with Spain. This Company is well officered and one of the best in the Regiment, but the number present shows lack of interest on the part of the enlisted men."

First Infantry, W. V. N. G.,
Camp Spilman,

Keyser, W. Va., August 27, 1900.

The Brigade Adjutant General,

W. V. N. G.,
Charleston, West Va.

Sir:—

I have the honor to submit the following Report of Inspection of the 1st Infantry, made August 25th and 26th, 1900, in compliance with instructions from your Headquarters.

The Regiment is commanded by Colonel C. L. Smith. It numbered on the day of inspection 42 officers, 437 enlisted men, of whom 39 officers and 373 enlisted men were present at the camp, and 35 officers and 247 enlisted men were present at inspection on the parade ground, under arms.

Absentees from inspection were on duty at camp and on the sick list; 3 non-commissioned officers and 7 privates, a total of 10 being in hospital and quarters.

I reviewed the Regiment, which was paraded in light marching order, and presented an excellent appearance. Military bearing and appearance of men very good, and the ceremony of the review was only marred by the failure of the Lieutenant Colonel, who was in command of the Regiment during review and inspection, (the Colonel being detained at camp on an examining board) to give the proper commands before joining the inspecting officer.

An inspection of the command followed the review.

Inspection embraced the following subjects, namely:

Military Appearance, Condition of Arms, Accoutrements and Clothing, and Efficiency of Officers and Men.

Much of the detail of previous reports is omitted for the reason that the attention of the commanding officers was at the time called to such irregularities as were noted.

FIELD STAFF, NON-COMMISSIONED STAFF AND BAND.

Side Arms and accoutrements of the Field Staff and Non-Commissioned Staff, and instruments of the Band were in good condition. Clothing good.

MILITARY APPEARANCE.

Officers presented a good appearance. Clothing of some of the men somewhat worn and in need of cleaning. Campaign hats not uniformly shaped, and in few instances the bands were decorated with matches and empty shells. No uniformity as to collars.

Ceremony of inspection well performed.

CONDITION OF ARMS.

Springfield Rifle, Calibre 45, model of 1884, in use. Arms in good working order. Too much oil used in some instances, which ruins the shoulder of the blouse. Only a few of the pieces in the possession of the Regiment are old, and these are unfit for service except at drill.

ACCOUTREMENTS.

But one Company of this Regiment equipped with cartridge belt, others using waist belt with McKeever cartridge box. Bayonet scabbards with hook attachments in good condition. One Company, however, equipped with old scabbards.

EFFICIENCY.

Officers generally intelligent and enthusiastic. Men of good physique and well disciplined.

I inspected the camp on the following morning, August 26th, at 8 A. M. It is located on the best available ground at this point. Well drained, and well policed, on the morning of my inspection. Sinks properly located and kept in sanitary condition.

TENTAGE.

Officers and hospital supplied with wall tents (drab); company cooks and kitchens with common A tents (drab); enlisted men with shelter tents, these latter not serviceable in wet weather.

Water is of excellent quality and the supply abundant, being brought to camp through a pipe line from a bold spring in the neighborhood. The facilities for bathing ample. Food sufficient both in quantity and variety and well prepared as a rule. Improved Buzzacott oven in use. Issue of tools ample for any service that might be required, within the State. Field equipment complete, including ponchos and regulation woolen blankets. The same blankets were used at the encampment of the 2nd Infantry this summer, the supply on hand not being adequate to the requirements of the two Regiments. Each Company provided with a hand litter. Medical supplies ample with the exception of First Aid packages and Orderly pouches, none of which were provided. Books and records of the Hospital properly kept. Regimental and Company books and records were examined; some not properly kept, and others found incomplete. The attention of proper officers called to errors and omissions, with a view to their correction.

Officers' and Non-commissioned officer's schools and Regimental, Battalion and Company drills held daily. Guard mounting, parade and roll calls in proper form.

One Company (C) deserves special mention for having provided themselves Khaki Uniforms at their own expense, the so-called Fatigue Uniform being the only Uniform provided by the State.

The Regimental Commander is an officer of experience and ability and deserves credit for what he has accomplished, during the short time in which he has been in command.

Very respectfully,

C. C. LEWIS, Jr.,

Major, Inspector General.

(S)

Second Infantry, W. V. N. G.,

Camp Smith,

Charleston, W. Va., Aug. 13, 1900.

The Brigade Adjutant General,

West Virginia National Guard,

Charleston, W. Va.

Sir:—

I have the honor to submit the following report of the inspection of the Second Infantry, made August 10th and 12th 1900, pursuant to Special Orders No. 14, B. H. dated August 6, 1900.

The Regiment went into camp under command of Col. Joseph A. Parker, who was relieved at his own request and placed on the supernumerary list, August 11, 1900. Major Charles E. Morrison taking command on that date, in the absence of Lieut. Colonel Charles N. Simms. It numbered on the date of inspection 43 officers and 431 enlisted men, of whom 43 officers and 321 enlisted men were present in camp, and 37 officers and 229 enlisted men present at inspection, under arms. Absentees from inspection were on duty at camp, and on the sick list, one officer and 4 men being sick in Hospital and Quarters. Owing to the intense heat the Regiment was not reviewed, and was inspected in light marching order. It presented a good appearance, military bearing of both officers and men being exceptionally good, and the ceremony of inspection was well executed, as a rule. The Colonel Commanding, however, failed to give the proper command when the Inspecting Officer approached. This caused some confusion. Such errors and irregularities as were noted, were brought to the attention of the proper officers at the time, hence it is not deemed necessary to enumerate them here. The efficiency of both officers and men, and condition of arms, accoutrements, clothing and military appearance of the Regiment, were noted.

MILITARY APPEARANCE.

The officers were well dressed, and their side arms were in good condition. The band neat, and their instruments in perfect condition. Men generally, of good physique. There was some lack of attention to the appearance of their uniforms, outside of their brasses, which were generally well polished. It is proper to state that the clothing worn by several companies, has seen long service. There was no uniformity as to collars worn, but the uniform shape of their campaign hats was noticeable.

CONDITION OF ARMS.

Arms generally in good condition, much improved since last inspection. Some few unfit for service except at drills, others need to be re-blued. All are Springfield rifles cal. 45, and principally Model of '84.

ACCOUTREMENTS.

One company equipped with cartridge belt. The remainder with waist belt and McKeever cartridge box, and all save one, with bayonet scabbards, hook attachment. The old bayonet scabbards generally rusty, and give evidence of long service.

EFFICIENCY.

Officers, generally intelligent, energetic and enthusiastic. The men well instructed, and capable of performing any military duty that might be required of them.

I inspected the camp of the Regiment on the morning of Aug. 12th at 8:00 A. M. Found it well located, properly laid out, and well policed. Officers and Hospital provided with wall tents (drab), company cooks and kitchens common "A" tents (drab), and enlisted men with shelter tents. These latter not serviceable in wet weather. The sinks, with a few exceptions, were properly located and kept in good condition, such sinks as were not properly located, were changed immediately. A proper supply of disinfectants was also on hand.

Water supplied from the City main nearby, and hauled into camp. The supply abundant, and with the use of ice, which was at hand, was made palatable. Bathing facilities ample. Food sufficient, both in quantity and variety, and very well prepared. Improved Buzzacott oven in use. The issue of tools ample for any service. Field equipments principally new and complete, including ponchos and regulation woolen blankets. Each Company provided with a hand litter. Medical supplies sufficient, with the exception of First Aid Packages and Orderly pouches, none of which were on hand. Books and records of the hospital properly kept. The Regimental and Company books and records were examined, many found incomplete and others not properly kept. Irregularities were pointed out with a view to their correction.

Parades, guard mounting and roll calls in proper form. Officers and non-commissioned officers schools, and Regimental Battalion and Company drills held daily.

The general condition of this Regiment, although susceptible of improvement, is good.

The Signal Corps was attached to this Regiment during its encampment. It numbered on the date of inspection 3 officers and 19 enlisted men, all of whom were present in camp, and 3 officers and 17 enlisted men were present at inspection. The Corps is well officered and efficient, so far as equipment permitted. They are not fully equipped with signal flags and no Heliographs. Field equipment, otherwise complete. Officers provided with side arms, but enlisted men were not provided with cartridge belt and revolver. Its commanding officer, Captain Wm. H. Peyton deserves credit for progress shown.

Very respectfully,

C. C. LEWIS, Jr.,

Major, Inspector General.

(APPENDIX B.)

Headquarters 1st Bat. 2nd Inf., W. V. N. G.,

Parkersburg, W. Va., Sept. 14, 1899.

To the

Brigade Adjutant General, W. V. N. G.,

Charleston, W. Va.

Sir:—

I have the honor to make the following report of the practice march of 1st battalion, 2nd infantry, pursuant to G. O. 14 B. H. c. s.

Co. "G," and Co. "I," of Huntington were ordered to proceed by way of the Ohio River railroad to Parkersburg, leaving Huntington on the morning of July 27th and arriving at Parkersburg at 12:20 P. M. of the same day. Co. "E." and Co. "L." were ordered to proceed to the City Park at Parkersburg at 11 o'clock A. M., July 27th, and pitch camp; which was designated as Camp Spilman.

Upon the arrival of Co. "G." and Co. "I." they were marched to the City Park where the battalion was assembled. Blankets were then issued completing the equipment of the companies. Parade was held in the evening at 6:30 assisted by the Citizens Band of Parkersburg.

On the morning of July 28th wagons were packed and the battalion left Camp Spilman at about 7 o'clock, taking up the march to Elizabeth, West Virginia, by way of the Elizabeth turnpike. After crossing the Little Kanawha river at Parkersburg, advance and rear guards were formed. Co. "I" took advance and Co. "G," rear guard. Camp Casteel at Mt. Zion church about ten miles distant was reached at 11 o'clock A. M. after an intensely hot and dusty march. At this point the battalion pitched camp. The march was again taken up at 6 o'clock the following morning, July 29th. The morning was cool and the sun partially obscured by clouds which enabled the battalion to march with fewer halts, and Elizabeth was reached at 10:30 A. M. At which place the camp was known at Camp Curtin. The distance from Mt. Zion church to Elizabeth, about twelve miles, having been covered in about four hours and a half.

The site at Camp Curtin was one peculiarly well adapted to a camp of this size; being a well sodded lot, sloping sufficiently to afford perfect drainage. A grove of large beech trees near by afforded abundant shade for the men during the heat of the day. An excellent spring near at hand supplied drinking water but was inadequate for cooking purposes, which necessitated hauling water in barrels from the river.

The camp and quarters were inspected Sunday morning and found in excellent condition. This was largely attributable to the number of men in the battalion who had seen service in the volunteer army during the Spanish-American war.

Parade was held Sunday evening with the aid of all the trumpeters and one drummer.

Company drills of one hour were held Monday morning, July 31st. Lieut. C. W. Cole, range officer, left Parkersburg by rail with the detail on Friday morning, July 28th, with instructions to prepare the range for target practice. Having been delayed by rain, the targets were not ready for practice until Monday afternoon, July 31st. The battalion left camp for the range about 1:30 P. M., July 31st, and practice at 100 yards was begun. The firing was continued from day to day at the various ranges until Thursday afternoon shortly after the 600 yard range had been reached. At this time a heavy rain storm filled the pits with water and prevented further practice. Several men from each company were unable to complete their scores. The battalion broke camp at 5.30 A. M., August 4th, and marched to Camp Casteel Mt. Zion Church, arriving at that place at 10 A. M. The men appeared to be in such good condition physically that it was decided not to pitch camp; but dinner was served and the battalion rested until 4 o'clock in the afternoon when the march was again taken up; the battalion arriving at Parkersburg at 7 o'clock P. M. A severe rain storm overtook the column about two miles from the camp at Parkersburg. The battalion went into camp at Camp Spilman in the City Park about 7.30 P. M. The ground being very wet the men were quartered during the night in a large hall adjoining the camp site.

The camp was inspected at 9 A. M., August the 5th, by Col. J. A. Parker, the inspecting officer. Co. "E," and Co. "L," were relieved at 11 o'clock A. M. Co. "G," and Co. "I," left via Ohio River railroad at 2.40 P. M. for Huntington.

During the entire march the subsistence was ample and no complaints were made by the men although the cost of the same per man was below the minimum as provided by G. O. 14 B. H. c. s.

Eight wagons were found to be sufficient to carry all the baggage of the four companies as well as that for the hospital, battalion headquarters and the forage and subsistence to be issued en route. Each wagon was drawn by two horses and some difficulty was experienced in crossing the high hills encountered. This necessitated doubling the teams, which caused some delay.

The camp sites were furnished gratis by W. W. Paige at Camp Casteel and by G. W. Roberts at Camp Curtin. The rifle range was also furnished gratis by C. H. Richardson.

The health of the command was excellent. Private E. B. Lyons Co. "G," was overcome by heat during the march from the railroad station to Camp Spilman and was carried in the ambulance. After arriving at Camp Curtin, on the recommendation of the surgeon, he was relieved from duty and ordered home on August 3rd.

Target practice was conducted pursuant to Order S Headquarters 1st Battalion, 2nd Infantry, which was approved by Major. T. E. Hodges, Inspector of small arms practice. After the first day's practice, changes were made, permitting the men to fire at 200 yards standing and kneeling, at 300 yards kneeling and prone, at 500 and 600 yards prone. Being unable to get a 600 yard range, 600 yard practice was fired on the 500 yard range. The practice was highly satisfactory, and it was largely due to the efficiency of Lieut. C. W. Cole, the range officer.

A detailed copy of report of Quartermaster's subsistence and ordnance stores issued, marked "A," is forwarded herewith as a part of this report.

The discipline of the command was excellent. The only cases before the summary court were for minor offences, carrying with them small fines.

I would recommend that practice marches be continued, but that target practice be conducted by companies at their home stations and the time in camp be spent in squad, company and battalion drills both in close and extended order. If target practice cannot be held at home stations, I would recommend that only part of the time in camp be so spent, and the balance be devoted to drills.

The success of this practice march was due to the efficiency of the officers of this battalion and to the presence of a large number of men who had previously served in the U. S. Volunteers.

Lieut. H. M. Patton, assistant surgeon, took special interest in the physical welfare of the battalion, and the sick report is sufficient evidence of his good management.

Lieut. C. D. Forrer, as in past service, has proven himself an efficient officer in every way.

The economy and good judgment used by the Quartermaster is shown by his report; and the conduct of this department by him and Quartermaster Sergeant J. B. Payne, is to be highly commended.

Very respectfully,

CHAS. E. MORRISON,

Maj. 2nd Inf.,

Commanding 1st Bat.

Headquarters First Battalion, First Infantry,
West Virginia National Guard,

Fairmont, W. Va., September 6, 1899.

The Brigade Adjutant General,
Charleston, West Va.

Sir:—

I have the honor to submit in accordance with G. O. No. 14, B. H. c. s., herewith report of the Practice March of the First Battalion, First Infantry, West Virginia National Guard, ordered by G. O. No. 17, B. H., c. s., presenting a summary of the principal events during the march and while in camp at Camp Preston, Terra Alta, West Virginia:—

Preparatory to the Practice March the Battalion was mobilized at this place on the 9th day of August, 1899, in accordance with Orders No. 1, c. s., issued from these headquarters with but one exception, to-wit:

The Hospital Detachment of the First Battalion under command of Assistant Surgeon First Lieutenant Chas. T. Nesbitt, did not report for duty owing to the fact that Lieutenant Nesbitt became ill the day before the date of mobilization. As soon as the Battalion Commander learned of Lieutenant Nesbitt's illness he made every effort possible to secure the services of another surgeon or assistant surgeon but failed and the health of the men of the Battalion was cared for by contract surgeons employed along the march.

About four o'clock, P. M., August 9, 1899, the Battalion in heavy marching order started on the Practice March reaching Winfield, W. Va., about five miles from Fairmont, at 5:50 P. M., where it camped for the night.

August 10 at 4:30 o'clock A. M., reveille was sounded and at 6:45 the Battalion was formed and again started on the march. A short distance out of Winfield Company "G" was ordered out as an advance guard and performed this duty for several miles. The road over which the Battalion marched this day was very rough and hilly, being part of the way along White Day Creek and was covered with small stones which made the march very tiresome on the men. After leaving White Day Creek we ascended a very steep hill for a distance of two miles, being the second long hill for this day's march. We reached Halleck, a distance of nine or ten miles from Winfield, at 12 o'clock, noon, where we ate dinner and remained until three o'clock when the march was again taken up reaching Gladesville, a distance of four miles from Halleck, at 5:00 P. M., where we went into camp for the night. This was the hardest day's march on the trip and it told on the horses in the wagon train as well as on the men.

August 11, at four o'clock, reveille was sounded; breakfast call at five and the march was again taken up at six, reaching Kingwood at 12 o'clock, making a distance of fourteen miles this day. Here Capt. B. F. Scott, in command of Company M, 1st Infantry, reported for duty. At this place the Battalion camped near the centre of the town and the camp was visited during the afternoon and evening by many visitors from the town and surrounding country. At 6:30 o'clock the Battalion was formed in Parade.

August 12, reveille was sounded at four o'clock. We breakfasted and were on the march by six, arriving at Lake Terra

Alta, one mile east of Terra Alta, by noon. Here the Battalion went into camp for the four days target practice required by G. O. No. 14, B. H. c. s. The distance from Kingwood to the place of camping is 11 miles, seven miles being up the mountain. A short distance from Kingwood Company "M" was thrown out as an advance guard and did duty as such up the mountain side.

It will be seen from the foregoing that the distance made by the Battalion on the march from Fairmont to Lake Terra Alta was forty-four miles through a mountainous country. The camp at Lake Terra Alta was named "Camp Preston" in honor of the county of Preston through which the Battalion marched and on whose soil it camped.

While in camp the men of the Battalion were kept very busy as will be seen by an examination of Orders No. 6, c. s., issued from these headquarters, and to which your especial attention is invited. The work set forth in this order was too much for the time and it was necessary on the second day in camp to suspend all the military work outlined for afternoons except parade and order target practice instead. See Orders No. 8, c. s., issued from these headquarters. (Orders Nos. 6 and 8 referred to, are appended below.)

On August 12, Range Officer, Lieut. Charles W. Cole, reported that the ranges (four, one for each company), for target practice were completed and ready for practice and also reported for further duty as such officer, which was assigned him, that of having charge of the ranges, superintending the firing and assisting in the general supervision of the practice. Before target practice began the Battalion Commander inspected each pit and range and found that Lieut. Cole had done his work well, having them constructed well in every particular. Target practice consumed all the time spent in camp. The men of the Battalion, together with company officers, each fired ten shots at 100, 200 and 300 yards and five shots at 500 yards, making as a general rule good scores at each range. This practice was conducted under the supervision of the company commanders under the general supervision of the Battalion Commander assisted by Range Officer Lieut. Cole.

Major Thomas E. Hodges, Inspector of Small Arms Practice, reported on August 14 and inspected the practice. Target practice ceased at noon August 16.

The Commanding Officer on August 13 proceeded to inspect the camp. Each Company together with clothing, quartermaster stores and equipage was inspected as was also company kitchens, utensils and cook. It was noticeable on the march and while in camp, but especially was it so on the march, that the cook having the most camp experience in his line of duty made far better progress in preparing the meals and messing the men than did new men at the work. The preparation of meals and the messing of the different companies was well done considering all circumstances. I would therefore recommend that each company commander be directed to forthwith enlist in his company a competent cook and that he have the cook instructed properly.

The paper strength of this command during the period of the Practice March was as follows:

Officers, 11; enlisted men, 165; aggregate, 179.

The duty strength of the command during the Practice March was as follows:

Field and Staff,

Officers, 3; enlisted men, 2; aggregate, 5.

Company "F," (Capt. Levi K. Hoge),

Officers, 3; enlisted men, 36; aggregate, 39.

Company "C," (Capt. T. E. Amick),

Officers, 3; enlisted men, 34; aggregate, 37.

Company "G," (Capt. V. N. Jones),

Officers, 3; enlisted men, 22; aggregate, 25.

Company "M," (Capt. B. F. Scott),

Officers, 1; enlisted men, 36; aggregate, 37.

Total, Officers, 13; enlisted men, 130; aggregate, 143.

August 16, at two o'clock, P. M., the Battalion broke camp and started on the return march, arriving at Kingwood at six o'clock. The Terra Alta Band came to camp and escorted the Battalion through the town of Terra Alta.

August 17 reveille was sounded at four o'clock and the Battalion was again on the march by six, arriving at Gladesville, for dinner. At three o'clock the march was continued reaching Smithtown, a distance of 13 miles from Gladesville, about eight o'clock P. M., where the Battalion camped for the night. The camp at this place was up White Day Creek one mile from Smithtown. The march from Kingwood to Smithtown was the longest march made in one day during the trip, being at least 27 if not 28 miles. After leaving Gladesville and about four miles from Smithtown Company "G," was ordered to the rear to act as a rear guard and performed such duty until the Battalion camped for the night.

August 18 reveille was sounded at five o'clock and by seven the Battalion was again on the march, arriving at Fairmont about 9:30 A. M., making a distance of nine miles this day. The distance traveled by the Battalion on its return march via Smithtown was forty-seven miles, which was made in forty-four hours including the two nights spent in camp.

The officers and men of the Battalion as a general rule enjoyed good health while in camp and on the march. The only sickness among them being as is common with soldiers in camp or on the march. The weather during the ten days the Battalion was in service was very warm and the men suffered from the heat and dust.

Second Lieutenant C. F. Jolliß, Adjutant, was absent with leave during this march and the duties of adjutant were performed by First Lieutenant George E. Gramm, Q. M., 1st Infantry.

The equipment furnished the Battalion was sufficient but I would respectfully recommend that regulation shirts and shoes be issued to the men as a part of their clothing supply if possible before the next Practice March or Encampment.

Rations were issued to the duty strength of the command, 10 teamsters, one cook, (C.F. Co.), and Regimental Inspector, Contract Surgeon and Inspector from the A. G. O., and Inspector of Small Arms Practice, part of the ten days receiving subsistence from the commissary, would make the number of officers and men fed 156 or 1,560 rations issued during the March, which would make the cost of one ration about fourteen and one-sixth cents as an average. The subsistence furnished was ample and satisfactory. 2nd Lient. John L. Hunt, Q. M. and Acting Commissary, doing his duty well.

Forage was issued to 25 head of horses during the march and to 27 head part of the time, making an average of 26 head receiving forage during the march. This would make the cost of forage twenty-one and one-half cents per head per day.

The entire cost of transportation during the Practice, exclusive of railroad fare, was two hundred and eighty ($280.00) dollars.

Lieut. Col. C. N. Simms while with the Battalion rendered very valuable assistance, giving the officers the benefit of his knowledge while in camp and on the march, which was greatly appreciated.

The Practice March was a success, the officers and men deriving great benefit therefrom. I would, however, recommend, in the future, that the Battalion be rendezvoused at the camping place and that the Practice Marches be by company from that point, the commanding officer or some suitable officer going with each company as an inspecting officer. This would lessen the cost of forage and transportation as one or two wagons could do the work of the entire Battalion.

A copy of each order issued from these Headquarters during the Practice March is herewith returned together with a map of the country traversed by the battalion.

Very respectfully,

W. W. SCOTT,
1st Inf. W. V. N. G.,

SYNOPSIS.

Of the Report of Major D. L. Irwin,
Commanding 2nd Bat., 2nd Infy.,
On Practice March.

The 2nd Bat., 2nd Infy., Commanded by Major D. L. Irwin, proceeded on its Practice March. Pursuant to orders on August 22, 1899, the Command was mobilized at Camp Ruffner, Charleston, on said date. The strength of the Battalion as formed for the march, was as follows:

Field and Staff.

Officers, 4; enlisted men, 3; aggregate, 7.

Co. "F," (Capt. B. L. Perry).

Officers, 3; enlisted men, 49; aggregate, 52.

Co. "A," (Capt. W. W. Anderson).

Officers, 2; enlisted men, 36; aggregate, 38.

Co. "M," (Capt. C. C. Rand).

Officers, 3; enlisted men, 19; aggregate, 22.

Total. Officers, 12; enlisted men, 107; aggregate, 119.

There were also present with the battalion Col. Jos. A. Parker, on detail as Inspecting Officer, and Lieut. Col. Chas. N. Simms, of Adjutant General's Office, on detail to assist in the administrative work, and supervise the Q. M. and Commissary Departments. Prior to the mobilization of the battalion 1st Lieut. T. D. B. Stewart, Q. M., had been detailed to go over the route of march and effect the necessary arrangements and camp sites, and contract for such quartermaster and commissary stores, as were to be obtained, along the line of march. This was accomplished by this officer in an intelligent and satisfactory manner. The route selected was up the Kanawha river from Charleston to Hughes' Creek, a distance of 26 miles. Five two-horse teams, and one two-horse ambulance had been engaged, by the Q. M., and accompanied the battalion on the march.

At 4:00 P. M. on Aug. 22nd, the battalion proceeded on the march with Co. "A," thrown out as an advance guard, and a detail of 16 men and 1 officer from Co. "F," forming the rear guard. The battalion marched 7 miles in two hours time that afternoon, and camped for the night one mile above Malden, on the property of Major C. C. Lewis, Jr.

"The second day's march was taken up at 7:00 A. M., Aug. 23, 1899, Co. "M" forming the advance guard, and a detail of 1 officer and 16 men from Co. "F," as a rear guard, marched to the mouth of Kelley's Creek and up said creek one and one-half miles a total distance of 14 miles, having made 3 miles per hour on the march. The battalion went into camp for the balance of the day and night, and there being plenty of excellent water convenient the men were allowed to bathe and refresh themselves."

"The march was continued at 7:00 A. M. Aug. 24, 1899, Co. "M," forming the advance guard, Co. "A" the rear guard, marched to the mouth of Hughes' Creek, and one mile up said creek to the camp ground, which was designated Camp Appleton. After arranging the camp ground and pitching tents and serving dinner, each Co. proceeded to the target range, to prepare for range practice. Capt. W. W. Anderson was detailed as Range Officer. Each Co. was detailed to prepare its own range."

Range practice was begun Aug. 26, 1899, and was continued for the greater part of three days. The range was an excellent one, and the firing generally was very well done, with the exception of the comparative few of the enlisted men who were recruits. The battalion broke camp at 5:00 P. M., Aug. 29, 1899, for the return march, which was made without particular incident, and over the same route as traversed on the outgoing march. Exercises in advance and rear guard were had on the return march the companies composing the battalion being alternated for these exercises. The weather was very warm, and while the men suffered with the heat and dust, the fatigue of the journey was born in a soldiery manner. There were but two cases of slight illness due to exhaustion. Upon arriving at Charleston on the morning of Aug. 31st, the battalion was inspected by the Inspecting Officer. At the Capital grounds at Charleston, the Battalion was formed in a line, and was addressed by the Commander-in-Chief, whose remarks were encouraging to officers and men alike, and much appreciated by them. On the afternoon of the same day the various companies composing the battalion were dismissed, and ordered to return to their respective home stations.

Rations were good and satisfactory, and the men learned to cheerfully partake of a soldier's fare without complaint before the march had been completed. Special attention was given to systematic work in advance and rear guard exercises, and there was marked improvement shown in these exercises on the return march. The nature of the ground was such as not to permit of the use of flankers to any advantage. Because of the time consumed in range practice while the battalion was in camp, company and battalion drills were necessarily very limited. Greater deficiency in guard duty was noted, than in any other exercise, and special efforts were made to improve the efficiency in this duty. The discipline generally, was good, and nothing of a serious nature was brought to notice.

Lieut. C. C. Hogg the Asst. Surgeon and one Hospital Steward, who accompanied the battalion rendered efficient service. The officers, both Staff and Line, were generally efficient and zealous in the work of the march.

Recommendation is made that in the future, each company be required to do range practice at its home station, or by battalion with permanent ranges, should the same be feasible. Camp grounds and water were secured free of cost, and very little was paid for wood, while all labor was performed by the men. It is estimated that the cost of the march was quite reasonable, and within the limits prescribed by orders from Brigade Headquarters.

(APPENDIX E.)

SYNOPSIS.

Of the Report of Lieut. Col. R. B. Ash,
Commanding 3rd Bat., 1st Infy.
On Practice March.

A battalion of the 1st Infy. designated as 3rd battalion, and consisting of Co. "E," of Martinsburg, Co. "H," of Piedmont, and Co. "L," of Morgantown, was ordered out for Practice March, Aug. 22, 1899, with Lieut. Col. R. B. Ash as the Commanding Officer of the battalion. Co. "E," (commanded by Capt. A. J. Moore) with 3 officers and 27 enlisted men; Co. "H," (commanded by Cadet Capt. E. B. Carskadon), 2 officers, 26 enlisted men, and Co. "L." (commanded by Capt. C. R. Jones), 2 officers and 34 enlisted men. Companies "E." and "L." were transported by rail to Keyser and Co. "H." marched from Piedmont to Keyser, a distance of 6 miles, leaving Piedmont at 12:30 P. M., and reaching Keyser at 4:00 P. M. Co. "E." arrived at Keyser at the same hour on the same day, and these two companies proceeded on march that afternoon from Keyser up New Creek $4\frac{1}{2}$ miles, where tents were pitched for the night. Co. "L." arrived at Keyser at 5:00 P. M. on the same day and marched to camp, where the Co. joined the Command. The full strength of the Command when rendezvoused consisted of:

Field and Staff.

Officers, 3; enlisted men, 2; aggregate, 5.

Line Officers, 7; enlisted men, 83; aggregate, 90.

Totals, Officers, 10; enlisted men, 85; aggregate, 95.

After resting at the camp on New Creek over night the battalion proceeded on the march at 6:30 o'clock on the morning of Aug. 23rd, and reached Burlington, a distance of 9 miles at 11:30 A. M. where the battalion went into camp for the balance of the day, and the night following. The battalion was paraded at 6:30 on that afternoon. The march was resumed the next morning and a distance of 12 miles was traversed when the battalion went into camp about 1 mile below the Town of Romney, on the South Branch of the Potomac river. The camp site was on the farm of Mr. Garret Parsons, and was designated "Camp Hampshire." 1st Lieut. C. W. Cole had been designated from Brigade Headquarters as Range Officer for this battalion, and had prepared, an excellent range upon the arrival of the battalion. Range practice was engaged in and consumed the greater part of 4 days. This practice was conducted under the supervision of 1st Lieut. Cole.

Col. Macker Babb acting in the capacity of Inspector accompanied the battalion on its march, and remained with it until Aug. 28, when he was succeeded in this capacity by Major Thos. E. Hodges, who acted as inspector until the battalion broke camp on Aug. 30th.

The battalion returned to Keyser over the same line of march traversed in going to Camp Hampshire, camping within 1 mile of Keyser on the night of Aug. 30th. The following morning the battalion broke camp and the several companies were ordered to return to their home stations. It is stated that the conduct and discipline of the enlisted men while in camp was very good and creditable, and that the march and the encampment at Camp Hampshire were successful, and beneficial to the battalion. The acts of insubordination consisted of two minor offences.

(APPENDIX F.)

Sept. 9th, 1900.

To The

Acting Brig. Adj. General W. V. N. G.
Charleston, West Va.

Sir:—

I have the honor to make the following report of Regimental Camp held under G. O. 15, B. H. c. s. Pursuant to G. O. 3, R. H. the regiment was assembled at the camp ground near Charleston on the evening of August 6th, and on the morning of August 7th the camp routine and regulations, as provided in G. O. 3 R. H. began.

The Camp was designated as Camp Smith, per G. O. 6 R. H. in honor of the late Lt. W. Herman Smith, of Charleston. There is no record at this office giving strength of Companies on arrival, nor up to the morning of August 12th. The morning reports of August 12th show the following strength of Companies:

Company "C," 2 officers, 36 men.

Company "E," 2 officers, 19 men.

Company "F," 3 officers, 32 men.

Company "G," 3 officers, 36 men.

Company "H," 3 officers, 27 men.

Company "I," 3 officers, 44 men:

Company "L," 3 officers, 37 men.

Company "M," 3 officers, 43 men.

Signal Corps, 2 officers, 14 men.

Field and Staff, 11 officers; non-commissioned Staff and Band, 18 men.

Making a total of 35 officers and 302 enlisted men. Regular drill and schools were carried on as per G. O. 3 R. H., until August 10th, when the regiment was inspected by Major C. C. Lewis, Brigade Inspector General at 9:30 A. M., and reviewed by Governor G. W. Atkinson, Commander in Chief at 6:30 P. M.

On the morning of August 11th pursuant to G. O. 10 R. H., the regiment was marched to Charleston, leaving Camp at 8:30 A. M., returning at 11 A. M.

In the evening of this day pursuant to S. O. 37 A. G. O., Col. Joseph A. Parker, Commanding regiment, was, at his own request, relieved and placed on the Supernumerary, and I assumed command, pursuant to S. O. 17 B. H.

On the morning of August 12th at 8 A. M. camp and quarters were inspected by Major, C. C. Lewis, Brigade Inspector General. Religious Services were held at Glenwood Park at 10 A. M., conducted by Chaplain W. P. Walker.

On the morning of August 13th, at 5 o'clock A. M., the regiment broke camp pursuant to G. O. 13 R. H. And immediately after the regiment was mustered and paid by Brigadier General E. L. Boggs, Paymaster General. The Companies then left for their home stations. Company "E." and Company "L," left at 7:30 A. M.; Company "I," Company "G," Company "H," and Company "F," and the band at 8 A. M.; Company "C," at 9:43 A. M.; the Signal Corps left for its home station immediately after being paid; while Company "M," was held to police the Camp after all the other troops had left.

The discipline of the regiment during the encampment was exceptionally good. There were no complaints from citizens on account of depredations or bad conduct on the part of any of the men.

The instruction of the men both on the drill field and in the schools held in Camp was highly satisfactory. A large percentage of the Officers and non-commissioned officers have seen service in the volunteer army during the recent Spanish war, and are thoroughly equipped for the duties of their respective offices, making a valuable nucleus for an efficient and well organized regiment. Those who had not seen service in the army were for the most part enthusiastic and anxious to fit themselves for any duty they might be called upon to perform. The term of five days allowed for the encampment this year was entirely too short to give recruits even an idea of many of the most important duties of a soldier while in the field. There was little or no opportunity for instruction in the formation of an advance and rear guard in out-post duty, or even in guard duty in camp, as none of the men were detailed for guard more than once.

The duties of a soldier while in the field and individual instruction as to how to take care of himself under all circumstances are far more important than an accurate knowledge of field evolution, and can best be taught him by actual experience in camp.

I therefore recommend that the encampment hereafter should be of not less than ten days.

The clothing of the men was generally in good condition. A few men appeared in ranks poorly clad or partly in civilian clothes, owing to the failure of the contractor to promptly fill orders for new uniforms. The entire regiment is equipped with Springfield rifles, army pattern, and 45 calibre. These were for the most part in good condition, but there were some in the hands of the men that were in the possession of the National Guard prior to the Spanish war, and having been left in damp armories or otherwise badly cared for, were in poor condition.

All of the Companies except one are equipped with the old leather belts and McKeever cartridge boxes, which are in many cases badly worn and unfit for use. I would recommend that the new web belts be issued to all the companies, as soon as practicable, in order to improve their equipment and secure uniformity.

The health of the men was excellent.

The heat was intense during the entire encampment, but there was only one prostration which did not prove serious.

The plan heretofore followed of purchasing only such medical supplies, and in such quantities as will probably be needed for the time, I regard a very poor and expensive one. These supplies usually cost from $30 to $40 each year, and as the medical officers have no means of properly keeping them together or preserving them, they become stattered or unfit for use.

And further this plan does not fully equip the Medical Department for all emergencies that may arise in camp, and they have heretofore been forced to carry part of their personal equipment with them.

In order to avoid this heavy expense from year to year, as well as to increase the efficiency of the Medical branch of the service, I would earnestly recommend the purchase of a medicine chest, such as is used by the U. S. Army. These chests are supplied with all medicines, instruments and surgical supplies that would be necessary for ordinary field service, and cost about $100. I recommend that it should be kept by the chief surgeon, and in case of active service it could be sent upon telegraphic order to surgeon accompanying troops ordered out.

We were fortunate in having perfectly dry weather for this camp, and the shelter tents used by the men answered all purposes; but past experience has shown that they are not waterproof; and are very unsatisfactory during continued rainy weather, and cause discontent as well as sickness among the men.

I therefore recommend that common tents be hereafter used.

The Q. M. Department was economically and admirably conducted as fully appears from the Q. M. Report, which is herewith forwarded and made a part of this report.

A detailed statement of the Com. Dept. cannot be made as the Com. officer reports that he is unable to make an accurate return.

The rations issued were sufficient and satisfactory, the only complaints coming from those companies that had incompetent or inexperienced cooks.

On the whole this was the most satisfactory and beneficial National Guard encampment I have ever attended, and with the continued efforts and hearty co-operation of both officers and men I predict for the Regiment marked improvement and a bright future.

Very respectfully,

Headquarters First Infantry,

West Virginia National Guard.

Fairmont, W. Va., Sept. 8th, 1900.

The Brigade Adjutant General,

West Virginia National Guard,

Charleston, W. Va.

Sir:—

Pursuant to instructions contained in G. O. Nos. 15 and 17, B. H. c. s., I have the honor to report that I rendezvoused the First Infantry, W. V. N. G., at Keyser, W. Va., on the evening of August 20th, 1900, for the purpose of Encampment. 1st Lieut. W. H. Fredlock, Q. M., 3rd Battalion, 1st Infantry, had been previously ordered to go to Keyser, receive the tents which had been shipped there, and to have the grounds put in order. To aid in this, Company "H," of Piedmont, under the command of Lieut. Earl H. Smith, who was directed to report to me for duty (S. O. No. 35, A. G. O. c. s., and was assigned to the temporary command of that Company by S. O. No. 11 R. H., c. s.) was directed to go to Keyser early on the morning of the 20th to assist in putting the ground in order.

On arriving at Keyser I found the grounds and Camp only partially ready. The men having brought with them rations for the evening meal went right to work pitching their tents, but this being done in darkness no order was observed, and the next morning the tents had to be struck and re-pitched in a more systematic manner and as symmetrical as the conformation of the ground would permit.

The Camp was named Camp Spilman.

The duties of Camp were announced in G. O. No. 7, R. H. c. s., (a copy of which is returned as a part of this report,) and the order was obeyed strictly with but few changes.

Especial attention was paid to instruction in Guard Duty, in which the men were found to be very deficient, and in which a marked improvement was noticed. They are still deficient and an effort will be made to give especial instruction, during the year on that subject.

The weather, although warm, did not seriously interfere with the work of the encampment.

I regret that on account of the lack of suitable grounds, not much could be done in Extended Order drill, but especial attention was given to Squad drill, and the Regiment was maneuvered in the battle exercises as much as the drill grounds would permit.

Carrying out instructions of the Brigade Commander Lt. Col. Ash drilled two Battalions in extended order while the other Battalion was on duty in receiving Governor and escorting him to Camp. In addition a Sham Battle was had between two Battalions, which was very instructive to the Guard and afforded new and unusual entertainment to a large number of spectators, which I trust tended to promote a more kindly feeling for the Guard in that section of the State.

On Friday, August 24th, His Excellency, the Governor and a number of his Staff reviewed the Regiment, and on the next day the Regiment was inspected by Major C. C. Lewis, Jr., the Brigade Inspector.

On account of the absence of the Chaplain no religious services were held in Camp on Sunday, but the Pastor of the M. E. Church in Keyser prepared a special service for the occasion and every opportunity was given the men to attend.

The rations were furnished by the Commissary Department, and were very satisfactory, little or no complaint was heard, but as the bills did not pass through my headquarters, I am unable to state the cost or the rate per man.

The men were paid by Paymaster General Boggs on the morning of August 27th and the camp was broken, and each Company reached its home station before the night of that day.

The Companies were brought to Keyser and returned to their Stations by the B. & O. R. R. Co., in a very satisfactory manner. There was no vexatious delays either in going to Camp or in returning.

I desire to return the thanks of both officers and men to Col. A. S. Hutson, A. A. G. and to Major C. C. Lewis, A. B. A. G., who were with us in Camp nearly the entire time, for the great assistance they rendered, and the encouragement they gave both officers and men, and to Gen'l. Boggs for the prompt manner in which the officers and men were paid and the encouragement he gave all by his presence and enthusiasm for the Guard.

We were all much pleased, highly honored and greatly encouraged by the presence of Governor Atkinson and his Chief of Staff, Adjutant General Appleton, who remained with us for several days, greatly to the delight and encouragement of both officers and men.

Taking the encampment as a whole I believe it was entirely successful. A majority of the officers as well as the men had never had any military experience, and a number of the Companies had not before left their home stations, and knew but little about their duties when they reached camp, but they learned rapidly and the improvement made was very marked.

The orders issued during this encampment have been forwarded.

Respectfully submitted,

C. L. SMITH,
Col. 1st. Inf'ty. W. V. N. G.

Charleston, April 13, 1899.

The following instructions in regard to loss or damage of State property and equipments are issued for the benefit of all concerned:

Where stores are lost, destroyed or damaged, and cannot be presented for the action of a Board of Survey, or, where circumstances are such that it is impracticable to have a Board convened readily, they will be accounted for by the certified statement of the officer responsible for the property, setting forth the date when, the place where, and all the circumstances under which the loss or damage took place, accompanied by such testimony of other officers as may be attainable.

In cases where the circumstances did not come under the cognizance of the officer responsible for the property, or that of other officers, the affidavit of a non-commissioned officer, or, if not procurable, that of one or more privates, covering the facts in the case, is obtained in duplicate, and filed as a voucher. All statements and affidavits should contain an itemized list of the articles lost, destroyed or damaged, and must show clearly that same was not occasioned by the neglect or fault of anyone concerned who can be held to a personal responsibility.

Special attention is called to the fact that all papers must be forwarded in duplicate, and that Ordnance and Ordnance stores must in all cases be on separate papers from Quartermaster's Stores.

Officers accountable for property themselves, or officers of the same command not thus accountable, are not qualified to administer oaths in connection with above certificates and affidavits, and, if no other is available, they must be made before a civil officer qualified to administer oaths.

In allowing claims for shortages, etc., occurring in organization of the volunteer regiments, the above order will be strictly adhered to, also on discrepancies occurring hereafter, and no credits will be allowed unless supported by satisfactory evidence put in the shape required above.

Charleston, Sept. 25, 1899.

1. Pursuant to paragraph 2, G. O. No. 12, B. H., c. s., a muster and inspection of the Brigade will be made during the month of October, 1899 by the Brigade Inspector General, and an additional Inspector General to be designated at a later date from these Headquarters.

These officers will receive written instructions from these Headquarters showing their specific assignments for this duty, and they will, in turn, communicate with the Commanding Officers whose headquarters or organizations they may be directed to visit, informing them as early as possible as to the time of their respective visits. They are also authorized to fix the time when commands shall be paraded for their inspection, and property exhibited, and any other orders necessarily incident to the proper discharge of their duty, and they will be obeyed and respected accordingly.

2. Their reports will consist of an accurate Muster Roll, and an accurate set of property returns of each organization inspected, and will include a detailed statement of the drill, discipline and appearance of each command, of the condition of books and records, and of the character of the administrative work and military correspondence at each office and Headquarters visited, accompanied by such recommendations looking to the improvement of the service as they may see fit to make.

The reports of the Inspector Generals, required as aforesaid will be made out and forwarded in duplicate to these Headquarters. But one set of Muster Rolls and Property Returns will accompany these reports. Duplicates of same, properly certified will be left with each respective organization inspected.

3. The Muster Rolls will exhibit the exact status of the Command and will be made by parading the company or corps, having the roll called, having the absentees properly accounted for and verifying all names and dates.

4. The property returns will exhibit the exact amount of property in the hands of each responsible officer, and will be made by viewing and accurately counting each class of property, and entering the same, under the proper heading, and upon the proper forms.

5. All errors and inaccuracies in the Muster Rolls and Property Returns of the organizations inspected will be corrected to correspond exactly with the report of the Inspector.

6. The Inspector Generals will condemn all property that is unfit for service, and have it forwarded to the A. G. O.

7. They will combine instruction, as far as may be practicable, with their duties as inspecting officers, pointing out and correcting any errors and faults that may appear in the drill and discipline of the commands visited.

The method of keeping books and records, making reports and all administrative work and military correspondence will be carefully gone over by the Inspecting Officers and all necessary instructions given for the proper performance of this branch of the service.

BRIGADE HEADQUARTERS

Circular)

Brigade Headquarters,

No. 1.)

West Virginia National Guard.

Charleston, August 18, 1900.

The following communication has been received and is published for the information of the West Virginia National Guard:

"Ronceverte, W. Va.,

August 17th, 1900.

The Brigade Adjutant General.

West Va. Nat. Guard,

Charleston.

Sir:—

I have the honor to acknowledge receipt of your L. S. No. 259, 1900, advising that I will be commissioned Colonel 2nd Infantry, vice Parker placed on Supernumerary List.

After careful consideration of the matter, and fully appreciating the compliment of the proposed promotion, I have decided to, and do hereby request permission to waive my right to same, believing that the interests of the service, which I have more in view than personal advancement, will be best subserved thereby.

Owing to my protracted absence from my business, there is much requiring my personal attention that would leave me insufficient time to properly attend to the duties of the office, and I could not afford to slight either.

The geographical location of my residence would also cause delay in correspondence, &c.

And again I am not situated so well as others as regards an available adjutant at home station.

I also feel that, although tolerably familiar with the administrative work, some one who saw service in the Volunteer organization could fill the position more creditably as regards field work, and that I could be of more benefit to the Guard by holding my present position, and remaining available for detail duty with which I am already familiar.

I have stated my reasons at length in order to avoid having my motives misconstrued, as this is the second time I have declined this promotion.

Respectfully,

CHAS. N. SIMMS,

Lt. Col. 2d Inft., W. V. N. G."

By Command of

BRIGADIER GENERAL CURTIN,

C. C. LEWIS, JR.,

Acting Brigade Adjutant General.

General Order) Brigade Headquarters,

No. 1.) West Virginia National Guard,

Charleston, Jan. 23rd, 1900.

By direction of the Commander-in-Chief the number of companies in each regiment will be limited to Nine, until otherwise ordered.

In this reduction of the number of companies in each regiment it is the determination to effect an improvement in the service, establishing both regiments on a thorough military basis respecting,

Proper and adequate equipment and,

Military efficiency,

for any active duty that may be required in the service of the State, and for any field exercises that may be ordered during the coming summer.

The limited appropriation available for the support of the Guard is not sufficient to maintain more than the above number of companies in each regiment up to that standard of military efficiency that is desired and will be required.

The retention of all companies in the service will be governed by the degree of efficiency and improvement shown in each case.

All officers will be held to a rigid accountability for the duties devolving upon them in their respective commands.

Neither officers nor enlisted men will be retained in the service whose presence there may be a detriment to it.
